TEXAS FLAT ROAD—County Maintenance Superintendent Bill Johnson, left, and Foreman Lisle Dedeaux discuss sub-base replacement work on Texas Flat Road. A total of about 500 feet of road is being replaced and work will be underway for about two weeks, Johnson said. Sections of roadway are being dug out in order to replace unstable sub-base material before the new blacktop is applied. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Texas Flat Road base replacement work underway

BY DENA BISNETTE

Motorists will need to slow down on Texas Flat Road for the next couple of weeks because some of the holes in it may be as much as two feet deep.

Part of the road, paved from Highway 603 to the McLeod Water Park entrance about two years ago, is being replaced due to sub-base failure, Hancock County Maintenance Superintendent Bill Johnson said.

The job requires digging out an unstable, blue-gray colored sub-base material known as gumbo clay and replacing it with a material more suitable for a roadbed. In this case, clay gravel is being used.

Johnson has been in office only one year and the road was paved while the county was still operating under the beat system. Beat Four Supervisor Sam Perniciaro was in charge of the job.

Barriere Construction, a Louisiana firm that has worked on other projects with Hancock County, was the contractor, Perniciaro said.

The road failure was found to be the fault of the county, and consequently, the county is paying for the repair work, the supervisor added.

It was not considered the fault of the contractor because Perniciaro and County Engineer Larry Seal checked the site and authorized the paving.

Perniciaro explained that gumbo clay can harden during dry parts of the year and becomes nearly as hard as blacktop.

"We both agreed that it was stable enough for blacktopping," he said.

However, during rainy weather gumbo clay allows water to get under the road and "pump," or move around under the road as pressure is applied to the blacktop on top.

The clay compacts from top to bottom and leaves empty spaces under the road as the water dissipates, allowing a succession of passing vehicles to then crush the blacktop or allowing the blacktop to sink.

There is a lot of the clay under the road and Perniciaro estimated that Johnson's crews may have to dig as much as two to two-and-one-half feet to remove enough of the material to provide a stable roadbed.

The pumping action was what has caused about 500 feet of the paving to fail, Johnson explained.

Texas Flat Road bears a substantial amount of weight because a number of heavy vehicles including logging trucks use that route, in addition to campers en route to the park and passenger vehicles carrying workers to and from the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant at NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories, he added.

The road must be repaired in several spots, which Johnson expects to take about two weeks, weather and equipment availability permitting.

As each section of unstable sub-base is removed, clay gravel fill will be added and new blacktop applied.

The original blacktop was compacted to about a half-inch but Johnson said the replacement blacktop will probably be more dense in order to make the road last longer.

Doctor seeks free medicine for needy

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Dr. David Handshoe of the Coastal Family Health Center in Bay St. Louis is requesting community organizations to help him persuade prescription drug manufacturers to donate medicine for persons who can not afford to pay for it.

"It's hard for people to get well when they don't have the money to buy medicine," Handshoe told members of the Hancock County Community Services Planning Council Thursday at a luncheon meeting.

Coastal Family Health will buy medicine when a person is in dire need, but the center can not do this on a continuous basis, he said.

The center opened approximately three weeks ago on Dunbar Street in Bay St. Louis across from the old Hancock General Hospital.

Appointments are usually needed but walk-in patients who are seriously ill will be worked in, he said.

The clinic is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

The phone number is 466-3144.

"I am seeing about 20 patients per day and it is hard to work the walk-in patients in on this schedule," Handshoe said.

Costs of health care at the clinic are assessed on a sliding scale fee arrangement based on income and family size, he continued.

"The clinic does not provide free health care, but rather health care at a very reasonable cost related to income," Handshoe said.

However no one in need can be turned away for a lack of money, he added.

Currently at the clinic, in addition to Handshoe, staff members include Dr. Michael Gibney, a obstetrics and gynecologist; a registered nurse; one nurse-midwife practitioner; a licensed practical nurse; a medical assistant; and two clinic clerks.

Handshoe said in the future a nutritionist, a social worker, a pediatrician, and a full scale testing laboratory may be included at the clinic.

Court officials mum on Ladner trial date

BY DENA BISNETTE

Hancock County Circuit Court goes into a special term Monday morning, but Court officials will not state whether the capital murder trial for Jeffrey Ladner will be heard during the special term.

Hancock County Deputy Circuit Clerk Pam Metzler explained that Judge James Thomas had issued an order keeping court officials from talking about the trial.

Thomas stated late Friday that the reason he gave the order was difficulty in obtaining a jury in Hancock County.

The state can not request a change of venue, which would move the trial, and the defense did not do so during pretrial motions two weeks ago.

Thomas said he felt releasing the date would result in potential jurors attempting to get out of jury duty when they realize that a capital murder jury may be sequestered.

Prior to the court term when the pretrial motions were heard, Circuit Clerk John Rutherford Jr. released the court date but protested against its publication, contending that it would be difficult to get a jury to hear the case.

Ladner, currently an inmate in the Hancock County Jail, is accused in the Nov. 11, 1986 shooting deaths of Dorothy G. Tassin and Jeannette Holden.

Both women were found dead in their mobile home behind the Brass Anchor Lounge on US-90 west of Waveland, which Holden operated.

Ladner was arrested Nov. 27 in Louisiana, where he was living at the time. He was later extradited to Hancock County.

Harrison County chambers studying consolidation

If plans go as scheduled, members of Harrison County's chambers of commerce will have an opportunity to vote on consolidation of six chambers into one county-wide organization in early 1988.

An 18 member steering committee composed of three representatives from each chamber has been formed to conduct a three month study to determine the feasibility of consolidating the Chambers.

Members of the Harrison County Chambers of Commerce Steering Committee representing the Biloxi, Gulfport Area, Long Beach, Pass Christian, Orange Grove and North Bay Area Chambers of Commerce are Joyce Allen, Phillip Allen, Jack Boice, Steve Bullard, Rick Cromwell, Evelyn Gregory, Walter Himel, David Hughes, Norma Irby, Karl Lion, Leon Long, Larry Patterson, Hank Renken, Peggy Schloegel, Gene Warr, Jim Wheeler, Jack Wolsieffer, and Walter Williams who is serving as chairman.

According to a recent report, "Trends in Local Chamber of Commerce Mergers" published by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, there has been a trend in recent years for Chambers of Commerce across the nation to conduct some type of self-examination to determine how they can better meet the needs of the communities they serve.

In regions where multiple chambers exist, consolidation has been credited with eliminating duplication in services, providing greater economies of scale and in creating a much stronger voice for the business community on legislative and community development issues.

But Committee Chairman Walter Williams is quick to point out that no decision has been made on the con-

Catahoula water grant not funded

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

A grant to fund the bi-county water district for the Catahoula Community is not to be included in the 1987 allotment of Community Development Block Grants.

Beat Two Supervisor Ronald Cuevas reported Thursday although the Catahoula-Steeple Hollow Water District grant application was ranked in the top 50 percent filed, funding was not available for the project.

"Jean Smith of CDBG said only $13 million of the $50 million requested for the grant program was allotted," he added.

"She said if there had been only $4 million more funding, the water district would have been funded," Cuevas continued.

There were 143 grant applications filed.

Cuevas also said, the county had been advised to file an application for the water district one more time and the project would probably be funded.

Also at the meeting Harold Olsen, director of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, reported to the supervisors Hancock County's Port Bienville Industrial Park is being studied by Louisiana State University to develop training aids for economic development.

Olsen said he believes it is very significant of the development of the area, that Hancock County was selected for the program.

During the meeting, Board Attorney Gerald Gex reported Judge Lansing Mitchell of United States District Court had recommended in a pre-trial meeting, the county settle out of court with David Carver, in the case of David John Carver vs. the Hancock County Sheriff's office.

Gex said a settlement amount of $9,000 had been reached in the false arrest suit. The supervisors approved the payment.

Sheriff Ronald Peterson requested the board seek some materials for fences on the Hancock County Sheriff's Department farm.

"We have had a donation of 1,500 catfish to put in the pond and need to fence around this area," he said.

Peterson also reported completion of hog pens at the farm and a donation of 30 laying hens.

The board told him they would check into getting some fencing materials.

Olsen reported the Port and Harbor Commission may remove a fence, at Stennis International Airport and this could be used at the farm.

ASK OCHSNER

Q. Over the past few months, my 84-year-old mother-in-law has become very forgetful and has sudden outbursts of anger. My husband and I are quite concerned because she has always been very sharp-witted and independent. Can you explain what may be happening? Mrs. J.J. Opelousas, La.

A. Memory loss and other behavioral changes are extremely common in elderly patients and become increasingly so with advancing age, says Dr. Richard L. Strub, neurologist at the Ochsner Clinic in New Orleans. It is by no means a simple matter to evaluate and requires the help of a physician, often a neurologist or psychiatrist.

A change in behavior that appears suddenly may be due to a stroke. All strokes do not result in weakness or other physical symptoms and may only cause a sudden change in behavior, such as confused speech or disorientation.

Behavior that changes over a period of hours to days may be due to another medical problem, such as infections, early heart failure, uncontrolled diabetes or, more commonly, an adverse reaction to a prescribed or over-the-counter medicine.

The elderly patient is often sensitive to the effects of cold preparations or other medicines now available in drugstores without a prescription.

Your mother-in-law's symptoms, which you specifically mention, are that of a rather slowly progressive problem with memory, emotions and other mental abilities. This type of abnormality is generally called a dementia, more commonly known as senility. It is much more common in patients in their 80's and 90's, but can be seen even in middle-aged individuals.

In the early stage of this condition, the individual is usually able to recall events from their earlier life, but has difficulty remembering recent events, such as where she left her car keys or when she had a specific appointment or social engagement.

The elderly person is often frustrated because, given the recent loss of memory, she is unable to perform such routine tasks as preparing meals or washing clothes.

The most common cause of dementia in the older individual is Alzheimer's disease, a condition of unknown cause that results in actual deterioration of brain cells.

Other conditions which can produce a declining mental state in the elderly are multiple small strokes (usually in hypertensive and/or diabetic individuals), brain tumors, low thyroid function and a large number of less common disorders.

Dr. Strub recommends that elderly individuals who are experiencing changes in behavior should see a physician so that the exact cause of the mental changes can be determined. In some cases, the process can be reversed, but reversible causes of true dementia are rare.

Weekly state
crop report*Lint yields

Mississippi cotton farmers may exceed the predicted lint yield per acre by 15 to 25 pounds by the time harvest season is over.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's crop report for September estimated an average yield of 749 pounds of lint per acre in Mississippi. Excellent weather and the crop's early maturity this fall may allow farmers to harvest more lint per acre than predicted, said Will McCarty, cotton specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

"This could be one of the top four cotton crops we've had in terms of production per acre," McCarty said. "It's conceivable that we may have one of the better crops in recent years in total production of cotton."

The USDA's report estimated Mississippi will produce 1.7 million bales of cotton in 1987.

About 65 percent to 70 percent of the crop has been harvested through the last week of September. The rest could be out of the field in three weeks if the weather remains dry and clear.

McCarty said samples taken from the harvested crop indicate good quality cotton, with good color and strong fibers. "Seventy percent of the samples taken to the classing station has been grade strict low middling or better," he said.

Strict low middling is the grade of cotton where most prices are set. Grade of cotton is based on the cotton's physical properties: color, fiber, length, fiber thickness and cleanliness.

The micronaire, or fiber thickness, has not been as good as expected.

"As the season progresses, the micronaire readings being taken have improved but it's still below what we'd like to see," McCarty said.

In other related agricultural news, cotton harvesting across the state is steadily increasing, according to county agents.

"Cotton yields have been pleasantly surprising," said John McCaskill, Sunflower County agent. Sixty-five percent of Sunflower's crop is harvested, with yields approaching 700 pounds of lint per acre.

Cotton harvesting in Madison County is 80 percent complete.

"The cotton producers are enjoying this weather but the farmers who have winter grazing crops are not," said county agent Frank Carter.

Rocky Hill businessman seeking
District Three school board post

Johnnie Richard of the Rocky Hill Community has announced his candidacy for the District 3 seat on the

JOHNNIE RICHARD

Hancock County School Board in the Nov. 3 General Election. Richard, 42, owns Richard

Quarter Horses.

He previously owned RTI Air Freight and a commercial construction company.

Richard said his business background includes local, national and international experience.

He and his wife, the former Sue Jennings, have two daughters who attend Hancock North Central schools.

He is a U.S. Army veteran and a member of Kiln Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 6285, Hancock North Central Parent-Teacher Association, Hancock County 4-H Club, Pee-Wee Football Boosters and the American Quarter Horse Association.

"I think my background in construction and maintenance would be a great asset to the board, since more than half the county budget is spent in these areas," Richard feels.

The candidate also said he will press for a clause in all school construction contracts requiring that 40 percent of the workers be residents of Hancock County.

His platform also includes a promise to be more accessible to all Hancock County residents and a commitment to involve senior citizens in school affairs.

"The elderly population of Hancock County is one of our greatest resources. We need to put that vast amount of knowledge and experience to work for us," he stated.

Richard said that he wants better maintenance of schools and favors a county health and safety inspection of all public buildings.

"Because of the limited amount of time given to campaign, it is impossible to talk to everyone. If anyone wishes to discuss my candidacy, please contact me at 255-1843. I will be happy to speak with you," he added.

Jitney Jungle's annual fest set in Jackson

Mississippi trademark in Jackson will be the site for a weekend show lineup offering entertainment for every member of the family during Jitney-Jungle's annual "Food Festival," scheduled for Saturday and Sunday Oct. 24 and 25.

Jitney's third annual festival will feature over 200 exhibition booths set up by national and local food and home product companies.

Activities at the booths will include demonstrations of the newest recipes and products; tasting of unique food items; coupon giveaways; product samples and much more.

Along with the exhibition area, festival-goers can enjoy an exciting assortment of entertainers and celebrities.

Onstage entertainment will be provided by Miss Mississippi, Toni Seawright and Miss Mississippi USA, Kathy Manning.

Miss Teen USA, Kristie Addis, and Miss Universe, Cecilia Bolocco, will also be present to meet the crowd and sign autographs.

Television personalities who will make special appearances and sign autographs include Vanna White, star of the popular game show, "Wheel of Fortune;" Maria Gibbs, star of the NBC-TV hit, "227;" and soap opera stars Eric Braeden and Thom Bierdz of "The Young and the Restless;" A. Martinez of "Santa Barbara;" and Wally Kurth and Billy Warlock of "Days of Our Lives."

For the sports enthusiasts, a wide selection of personalities is on the roster. These include former NBA standouts Julius Erving and Bob Lanier; Indy 500 champion Al Unser with his Indy-winning car; wrestler

Sergeant Slaughter; and race team owner Roger Penske.

Cooking demonstrations will be conducted onstage by a well-known food expert, Merle Ellis, better known as "The Butcher."

Canjun humorist and chef Justin Wilson will also entertain with a repertoire that includes many famous tales and stories.

Other attractions during the weekend will be entertainment from local musicians; the appearance of "Spiderman;" and displays such as the Skoal Bandit Monster Truck and the Red Baron Racer.

Numerous door prizes and free samples from Jitney's own booths will be given away during the weekend.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. - 8 p.m. on Saturday, and noon - 5 p.m. on Sunday. Tickets are $2 at the door; children under 12 are admitted free.

Man still jailed

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Pass Christian man remains in the Hancock County Jail on $20,000 after being arrested on an aggravated assault charge Oct. 10.

According to Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Delbert Seay, Michael R. Hutchinson, 23, was charged in connection with an incident at Henley's Lounge in Kiln that occurred the night of the arrest.

He said Hutchinson allegedly attacked another lounge customer with a knife, injuring the victim's hand.

Seay said the injured man, who apparently did nothing to provoke the alleged assault, was treated for his injury but not hospitalized.

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Louisiana man has been arrested in Hancock County on a sexual battery charge.

Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Delbert Seay said Harold W. Frank of River Ridge, La., had been arrested Tuesday and charged with sexual battery of a juvenile female.

At an initial appearance hearing, Justice Court Judge Joseph Dobson set bond at $5,000, Seay reported.

ASK OCHSNER

Q. Over the past few months, my 84-year-old mother-in-law has become very forgetful and has sudden outbursts of anger. My husband and I are quite concerned because she has always been very sharp-witted and independent. Can you explain what may be happening? Mrs. J.J. Opelousas, La.

A. Memory loss and other behavioral changes are extremely common in elderly patients and become increasingly so with advancing age, says Dr. Richard L. Strub, neurologist at the Ochsner Clinic in New Orleans. It is by no means a simple matter to evaluate and requires the help of a physician, often a neurologist or psychiatrist.

A change in behavior that appears suddenly may be due to a stroke. All strokes do not result in weakness or other physical symptoms and may only cause a sudden change in behavior, such as confused speech or disorientation.

Behavior that changes over a period of hours to days may be due to another medical problem, such as infections, early heart failure, uncontrolled diabetes or, more commonly, an adverse reaction to a prescribed or over-the-counter medicine.

The elderly patient is often sensitive to the effects of cold preparations or other medicines now available in drugstores without a prescription.

Your mother-in-law's symptoms, which you specifically mention, are that of a rather slowly progressive problem with memory, emotions and other mental abilities. This type of abnormality is generally called a dementia, more commonly known as senility. It is much more common in patients in their 80's and 90's, but can be seen even in middle-aged individuals.

In the early stage of this condition, the individual is usually able to recall events from their earlier life, but has difficulty remembering recent events, such as where she left her car keys or when she had a specific appointment or social engagement.

The elderly person is often frustrated because, given the recent loss of memory, she is unable to perform such routine tasks as preparing meals or washing clothes.

The most common cause of dementia in the older individual is Alzheimer's disease, a condition of unknown cause that results in actual deterioration of brain cells.

Other conditions which can produce a declining mental state in the elderly are multiple small strokes (usually in hypertensive and/or diabetic individuals), brain tumors, low thyroid function and a large number of less common disorders.

Dr. Strub recommends that elderly individuals who are experiencing changes in behavior should see a physician so that the exact cause of the mental changes can be determined. In some cases, the process can be reversed, but reversible causes of true dementia are rare.

Weekly state
crop report

Lint yields good

Mississippi cotton farmers may exceed the predicted lint yield per acre by 15 to 25 pounds by the time harvest season is over.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's crop report for September estimated an average yield of 749 pounds of lint per acre in Mississippi. Excellent weather and the crop's early maturity this fall may allow farmers to harvest more lint per acre than predicted, said Will McCarty, cotton specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

"This could be one of the top four cotton crops we've had in terms of production per acre," McCarty said. "It's conceivable that we may have one of the better crops in recent years in total production of cotton."

The USDA's report estimated Mississippi will produce 1.7 million bales of cotton in 1987.

About 65 percent to 70 percent of the crop has been harvested through the last week of September. The rest could be out of the field in three weeks if the weather remains dry and clear.

McCarty said samples taken from the harvested crop indicate good quality cotton, with good color and strong fibers. "Seventy percent of the samples taken to the classing station has been grade strict low middling or better," he said.

Strict low middling is the grade of cotton where most prices are set. Grade of cotton is based on the cotton's physical properties: color, fiber, length, fiber thickness and cleanliness.

The micronaire, or fiber thickness, has not been as good as expected.

"As the season progresses, the micronaire readings being taken have improved but it's still below what we'd like to see," McCarty said.

In other related agricultural news, cotton harvesting across the state is steadily increasing, according to county agents.

"Cotton yields have been pleasantly surprising," said John McCaskill, Sunflower County agent. Sixty-five percent of Sunflower's crop is harvested, with yields approaching 700 pounds of lint per acre.

Cotton harvesting in Madison County is 80 percent complete.

"The cotton producers are enjoying this weather but the farmers who have winter grazing crops are not," said county agent Frank Carter.

Rocky Hill businessman seeking District Three school board post

Johnnie Richard of the Rocky Hill Community has announced his candidacy for the District 3 seat on the

JOHNNIE RICHARD

Hancock County School Board in the Nov. 3 General Election. Richard, 42, owns Richard

Quarter Horses.

He previously owned RTI Air Freight and a commercial construction company.

Richard said his business background includes local, national and international experience.

He and his wife, the former Sue Jennings, have two daughters who attend Hancock North Central schools.

He is a U.S. Army veteran and a member of Kiln Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 6285, Hancock North Central Parent-Teacher Association, Hancock County 4-H Club, Pee-Wee Football Boosters and the American Quarter Horse Association.

"I think my background in construction and maintenance would be a great asset to the board, since more than half the county budget is spent in these areas," Richard feels.

The candidate also said he will press for a clause in all school construction contracts requiring that 40 percent of the workers be residents of Hancock County.

His platform also includes a promise to be more accessible to all Hancock County residents and a commitment to involve senior citizens in school affairs.

"The elderly population of Hancock County is one of our greatest resources. We need to put that vast amount of knowledge and experience to work for us," he stated.

Richard said that he wants better maintenance of schools and favors a county health and safety inspection of all public buildings.

"Because of the limited amount of time given to campaign, it is impossible to talk to everyone. If anyone wishes to discuss my candidacy, please contact me at 255-1843. I will be happy to speak with you," he added.

Jitney Jungle's annual fest set in Jackson

Mississippi trademart in Jackson will be the site for a weekend show lineup offering entertainment for every member of the family during Jitney-Jungle's annual "Food Festival," scheduled for Saturday and Sunday Oct. 24 and 25.

Jitney's third annual festival will feature over 200 exhibition booths set up by national and local food and home product companies.

Activities at the booths will include demonstrations of the newest recipes and products; tasting of unique food items; coupon giveaways; product samples and much more.

Along with the exhibition area, festival-goers can enjoy an exciting assortment of entertainers and celebrities.

Onstage entertainment will be provided by Miss Mississippi, Toni Seawright and Miss Mississippi USA, Kathy Manning.

Miss Teen USA, Kristie Addis, and Miss Universe, Cecilia Bolocco, will also be present to meet the crowd and sign autographs.

Television personalities who will make special appearances and sign autographs include Vanna White, star of the popular game show, "Wheel of Fortune;" Marla Gibbs, star of the NBC-TV hit, "227;" and soap opera stars Eric Braeden and Thom Bierdz of "The Young and the Restless;" A. Martinez of "Santa Barbara;" and Wally Kurth and Billy Warlock of "Days of Our Lives."

For the sports enthusiasts, a wide selection of personalities is on the roster. These include former NBA standouts Julius Erving and Bob Lanier; Indy 500 champion Al Unser with his Indy-winning car; wrestler

Sergeant Slaughter; and race team owner Roger Penske.

Cooking demonstrations will be conducted onstage by a well-known food expert, Merle Ellis, better known as "The Butcher."

Canjun humorist and chef Justin Wilson will also entertain with a repertoire that includes many famous tales and stories.

Other attractions during the weekend will be entertainment from local musicians; the appearance of "Spiderman;" and displays such as the Skool Bandit Monster Truck and the Red Baron Racer.

Numerous door prizes and free samples from Jitney's own booths will be given away during the weekend.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. - 8 p.m. on Saturday, and noon - 5 p.m. on Sunday. Tickets are $2 at the door; children under 12 are admitted free.

Man still jailed

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Pass Christian man remains in the Hancock County Jail on $20,000 after being arrested on an aggravated assault charge Oct. 10.

According to Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Delbert Seay, Michael R. Hutchinson, 23, was charged in connection with an incident at Henley's Lounge in Kiln that occurred the night of the arrest.

He said Hutchinson allegedly attacked another lounge customer with a knife, injuring the victim's hand.

Seay said the injured man, who apparently did nothing to provoke the alleged assault, was treated for his injury but not hospitalized.

The Krewe of Triton is very busy cranking up their Haunted House, according to Noel Phillips. Many improvements are being made, Phillips said, and the Haunted House is to be better than ever this year.

Triton's Krewe brings us the Mardi Gras Parade on Fat Tuesday each year.

Proceeds from the Haunted House are all put back into the community by the club with the parade.

The Haunted House is scheduled to be open Halloween week on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

As frightening as the Haunted House has been over the years, it is hard for me to believe they will be improving the 'ghosts' this year.

We will be telling you more about the Haunted House as Halloween nears.

People of Hancock County always seem to rise for the occasion when there is a serious need.

For several weeks Big John Rutherford has been making appeals for the Hancock County Blood Bank. As many of you know, the Coastal Counties have been using more blood than collected in recent years.

Thursday Big John was very happy because at Wednesday's blood drawing some 115 units of blood were collected.

It was a blood drawing like the ones held many years ago, with a lot of donors.

John asked if I would express a big thank you to everyone who helped make this blood drawing a big success. So thanks to each of you, those who gave, helped, saw that others gave, etc.

By the way, the next blood drawing will be in December at the Waveland American Legion Home.

It will take many successful blood drawings to get our supply back in order.

MISSISSIPPI PROJECTS WIN COMMITTEE APPROVAL

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Funding for Mississippi flood control and port development projects totaling over 170 million are included in a bill that has won approval of the U.S. Senate Appropriations Committee chaired by Senator John Stennis.

Stennis said the amount includes $6 million for continued construction on the Sowash Creek flood control project at Meridian along with $900,000 to continue study and planning work on the proposed Shoccoe Dam project designed to relieve flooding at Jackson.

Additional funding is provided for port improvement projects at Gulfport, $800,000; Pascagoula, $900,000; and Vicksburg, $250,000. Stennis said the port projects are now in the planning and design stages and are aimed at enhancing navigation at the harbors through deepening and widening of the harbor channels.

"These flood control and harbor improvement projects are extremely important to our state, and this funding will enable the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to move ahead toward solutions to the problems that exist," Stennis said.

The Mississippi Senator said key projects in the bill include $10.3 million for flood control on the upper Yazoo River; $8.9 million for flood control on Yazoo basin tributaries; $5.3 million for demonstration erosion control projects; $2.4 million for flood control on the Big Sunflower River; $2.8 million for work on Sardis Dam; $1.75 million to develop plans for the Yazoo backwater pumping plant and $4.2 million for work along the Tombigbee River and tributaries.

The Energy and Water Development Appropriation Bill also provides $28.7 million for operation and maintenance of existing U.S. Corps of Engineers projects in the state.

The measure is expected to go to the full Senate for approval later this month.

Mississippi Forestry Commission observing Forest Products Week

"America Builds on Wood" is the theme of this year's National Forest Products Week, and the Mississippi Forestry Commission is joining the rest of the country in the week-long salute to America's most abundant natural resource and one of Mississippi's most powerful economic and environmental pluses.

National Forest Products Week, which is observed this year Oct. 19-23, is being observed to remind all Americans of the role of wood products in their everyday life. The special period also is designed to call attention to the growing need for productive and healthy forests to meet an increasing demand for wood products.

"Mississippi's forests are healthier today than ever," said State Forester Robert S. "Sid" Moss. Timber growth exceeds harvests in most areas thanks to the advances we've made in forestry in our state in the last several decades. We have a real good supply of raw material for the products we manufacture, such as lumber, pulp and paper, furniture, etc.—and soon, newsprint.

"Our timberland produces enormous environmental benefits such as watershed and wildlife protection, and recreational opportunities for Mississippians of all ages who love the outdoors," Moss added. "When properly managed, the trees are a renewable resource with no equal in the National and State economy."

Moss said the forest products industry employs tens of thousands of people in Mississippi and millions nationwide. These jobs include plant workers, independent loggers, foresters, and private landowners—called tree farmers—who grow the trees as crops. Nationwide, the industry annually ships products worth billions. Our nation's balance of payments is also bolstered by wood products sold abroad.

The forest products industry owns only about 20 percent of the total commercial forest, but accounts for a much higher percent of the state's timber harvest.

Private, nonindustrial landowners own about 70 percent and supply a much lower percent of the harvest than that. Government-owned lands account for 10 percent of the State's commercial forest and a higher percent of the harvest.

Commercial forests consist of all forest lands (regardless of ownership) which are both capable of and available for growing repeated crops of trees for harvest.

For instance, it includes land in national forests, but not in national parks or wilderness areas.

Mississippi's forest industry helps sponsor the American Tree Farm System, which encourages private landowners to manage their woodlands for harvest. For many years the state has led the entire nation in total number of certified tree farms.

Neglected Memorial slated for restoration

WASHINGTON—A Congressional delegation visited the site and termed it "almost total desecration." But thanks to a concerted federal/private effort, the Pacific War Memorial on the island of Corregidor should soon be restored to "its rightful place of dignity and respect."

"To allow further deterioration of the memorial and to ignore the need for its restoration and preservation would be tantamount to saying that the deeds of the American and Filipino veterans who fought side by side and who died there are not worthy of tribute. America should not allow that to happen," said Rep. G.V. "Sonny" Montgomery (D-MS), who has spearheaded the restoration effort.

Montgomery led a congressional delegation to the Philippines in April to investigate reports that the memorial, which was dedicated in 1968, had fallen victim to scavengers and neglect. The delegation—which included Congressmen J. Roy Rowland (D-GA) and Claude Harris (D-AL) and representatives of the Disabled American Veterans—reported upon its return that "a once beautiful and meaningful monument has been shamefully neglected and allowed to deteriorate to an almost unbelievable extent."

The group found that the island fortress is overrun with vegetation; the beaches are dirty and littered with garbage; most buildings have been reduced to rubble; and artillery emplacements have been ravaged by scavengers who steal and sell the metal. The delegation reported that the memorial is surrounded by stagnant water; the monument walls have cracked; there is no electrical power, thus no lighting for the monument; and there are holes in the monument flooring and the roof of the adjacent museum.

Following its visit to Corregidor, the delegation met with Philippine President Corason Aquino and other government officials and urged them to provide security for the island—which they have done—and to allow the American Battle Monuments Commission to play a leading role in the restoration and maintenance of the Memorial. The ABMC oversees national monuments and cemeteries worldwide and is authorized to accept private and corporate contributions. The State Department is conducting ongoing discussions with the Philippine Government to secure an agreement for ABMC involvement.

In a ceremony at the Pentagon, the Disabled American Veterans pledged $34,000 to Navy Secretary James Webb, the first installment of a $100,000 commitment to purchase materials for the restoration. Montgomery praised the DAV for its commitment to the project and said the development should put Seabees on the island "no later than November."

Corregidor, one of five islands strung across the entrance to Manila Bay, was a model American outpost in the Pacific during World War II. An intricate tunnel system on the island housed the headquarters of General Douglas MacArthur, who pledged "I shall return" as he was forced to flee Japanese invaders in the spring of 1942. After five months of heavy bombardment, the island fell in May when the Japanese made an amphibious landing that resulted in the deaths of 600 to 800 Americans and Filipinos and left 1,000 wounded. Three years later Gen. MacArthur made good his promise when American forces recaptured the island.

"A strategic chapter in America's freedom was written on Corregidor," said Montgomery. "The Memorial must continue to stand in dignity as a reminder of the courage of the battle's participants and the cost exacted by the events there."

Thad Cochran

$105.2 million for 22 items involving Mississippi in Appropriations Bill

Senator Thad Cochran (R-Miss.) says an Appropriations subcommittee bill includes over $105 million for 22 projects or items relating to Mississippi.

Cochran, ranking member of the Agriculture and Rural Development subcommittee, said the panel marked up the FY 1988 appropriations bill, which included $105,201,778 for the 22 items, ranging from agricultural research to watershed projects.

The largest item was $50 million for seven watershed demonstration projects in the Yazoo River Basin, primarily for erosion control.

A total of $25 million was allocated for cooperative forestry research nationally, with Mississippi to share in that program.

Cochran noted that $7.5 million was approved for the Polymer Institute at the University of Southern Mississippi, and $200,000 to plan and design a school food service management institute at USM in Hattiesburg.

The Soil Conservation Service (SCS) is being allocated $7 million for flood repair work in the Jackson area, including Brandon, Canton, Madison, Pearl and Ridgeland.

A total of $2,852,000 in wood utilization research grants was approved, for three centers, one at Mississippi State University, the others in Oregon and Michigan. MSU is also receiving $250,000 for muscadine research and a $240,000 grant for food processing research at the Starkville university.

Also, $1.6 million was approved for five rural development centers, one of which is located at Mississippi State. The Experiment Station at Stoneville will get $400,000 for catfish research, and $145,000 for other aquaculture work. Stoneville will also receive $500,000 for agricultural research, and $500,000 was allocated for catfish surveys and agricultural statistical reporting.

The University of Mississippi would receive $500,000 for acoustics research at its Oxford lab, and $1 million for planning on Ole Miss' National Cooperative Center for the Technological Development of Natural Products.

Mississippi Valley State University at Itta Bena would receive $750,000 for curriculum development.

A total of $3,750,000 was approved for five aquaculture centers, including one operating in Mississippi. And, $2,036,000 was approved for shrimp aquaculture projects on the Mississippi Gulf Coast and in Hawaii.

The Extension Service will receive $333,000 to maintain a pilot technology transfer program in Mississippi and Oklahoma, and the Extension Service is also being allocated $320,778 for management assistance and counseling for financially stressed and dislocated farm families.

The panel approved $225,000 for animal damage control work in the Southeastern United States, and $100,000 for waterfowl research and development.

"This is a major allocation of funds directly impacting on our state," Senator Cochran said following the subcommittee's favorable action. "I will continue to work to keep these funds in the FY 1988 appropriations bill."

Computer technology aids cancer fight

Computers play a role in nearly every aspect of modern life. The most advanced computer technology is now allowing some scientists to peer into the innermost workings of cells, where cancer begins.

Dr. Robert Rein of Buffalo and Dr. Ramaswamy Sarma of Albany are both project directors for the National Foundation for Cancer Research (NFCR).

Dr. Rein uses his computer to study the intricate molecular biology of the cancer process by building visual models. He creates three-dimensional pictures of carcinogens, drugs, proteins and pieces of DNA, and with the help of a pair of cardboard-and cellophane "3-D" glasses, Rein is able to envision how they all might fit together.

By observing how these substances interact, he is drawing a blueprint for hundreds of future anticancer drugs.

His NFCR colleague Dr. Sarma uses a new research tool called a nuclear magnetic resonance spectrometer, which measures signals from atoms within molecules. The information is fed into a computer, which creates "pictures" and enables Sarma to detect changes in a molecule's shape, particularly a DNA molecule.

This knowledge is important, because to learn what controls the expression of cancer, we first have to know the effect of mutation, or change, on the structure of the DNA molecule.

NEWS ABOUT LEUKEMIA
Leukemia is one of the most common cancers to strike children. It occurs when blood cells become malignant. Not long ago it was considered an unstoppable killer, but new anticancer drugs have resulted in long-term survival for the majority of leukemia's young victims.

Research still continues, however, in the hope of finding an even better cure. Current treatment sets out to destroy cancer cells. Unfortunately, it also destroys normal cells, producing unpleasant side effects.

Two scientists from NFCR are working on opposite sides of the globe to discover a way to change malignant cells back into normal cells, instead of destroying them.

Dr. Hector DeLuca, professor at the University of Wisconsin, became interested in vitamin D when it was found, in Japan, that adding a vitamin D compound to cultures of leukemic cells caused the cells to change from malignant to benign.

In Rehovot, Israel, Dr. Leo Sachs has proven that cancer cells are not irreversibly malignant. Cancerous cells can be coaxed back to normal, he says, by providing them with the right chemical environment.

Professor Sachs has already "cured" leukemia in the test tube without using poisonous chemicals. By adding colonies of various blood factors to leukemic cells, he transformed those cells back into normal blood cells.

The national Foundation for Cancer Research is a private, non-profit organization based in Bethesda, Md. With the help of donors nationwide, it has allocated more than $50 million to basic cancer research over the last decade.

Mississippi Forestry Commission

Wildfire danger time is fast approaching

BY MARK JAMIESON
COUNTY FORESTER
MISSISSIPPI FORESTRY
COMMISSION

Mississippi's annual bout with wildfires is about to get underway again in earnest, according to the State Forestry Commission.

Forestry crews are already seeing a small but steady increase in fire occurrence with each passing day without rain and the continuing maturing of vegetation.

Careless debris burning and woods arson continue as the leading causes of destructive fires in Mississippi.

Several Commission districts have been reporting class 4 fire hazard readings (highest possible in class 5) for several days.

The mounting seriousness of the new wildfire season is compounded by the fact that a lot of new building of homes in or adjacent to the forest has taken place in recent months and years.

"We are simply not equipped to fight house fires said County Forester Mark Jamieson and we strongly suggest that people building in these sylvan settings should be sure to develop and implement a good fire protection plan, for their homes before the height of the wildfire danger period is reached. Contact us for advice and information."

"It's mostly just good common sense things like keeping a good hose handy and not letting the grass get high and heavy around buildings that are needed," said Mark Jamieson County Forester.

The Forestry Commission has crews and equipment available to cut firelanes and to control burning, for modest fees. Contact the Hancock County office at 467-4728 or Hancock Firetower at 255-7152.

TREE PLANTING

If you plan to plant trees this winter, especially under a cost-share program, I'd advise you to hurry up and start making arrangements. If you delay, you might have trouble finding someone to plant your trees.

The Forestry Commission no longer acts as an agent for landowners in making arrangements with private contractors for tree planting. The landowner must take that responsibility.

The Commission will, however, continue to make management plans; delineate, (on the ground) areas needing work; assist landowners in ordering tree seedlings, and provide most other services as in the past. The local County Forester will also provide you a list of tree planting and site preparation contractors known to be operating in the county.

It will be the landowner's responsibility to reach a contractor or vendor, negotiate a contract, and make the necessary arrangements to get your work done. A Commission publication on "Tree Planting Guidelines—" is available free to help landowners handle this task. Ask the County Forester for a copy.

Special rules help divorced, separated parents determine child exemption

If you are a divorced or separated parent, you must use special rules to decide whether you or your former spouse can claim the exemption for your child when you file your tax return. The special rules for divorced or separated parents apply only if:

- 1) The parents are divorced or legally separated under a decree of divorce or separate maintenance, are separated under a written separation agreement, or lived apart at all times during the last six months of the year, and
- 2) One or both parents provide more than half the child's total support for the calendar year, and
- 3) One or both parents have custody of the child for more than half the calendar year.

Although there are some exceptions, the parent who has custody of the child for most of the year is usually treated as the parent who provides more than half the child's support. It does not matter whether the parent with custody has been actually providing more than half of the child's support.

If you are the noncustodial parent, you may claim the exemption for your child if either

- 1) the custodial parent signs a written declaration that he or she will not claim the exemption and you attach this written declaration to your return, or
- 2) your divorce decree or separate maintenance agreement was executed before 1985 and was not modified after 1984 to specify that this provision will not apply, it states that you have the right to take the exemption, and you provide at least $600 for your child's support during the year.

More information for divorce or separated individuals can be found in IRS Publication 504, "Tax information for Divorced or Separated Individuals," available by calling

1-800-424-FORM (3676) or the IRS local directories under U.S. Government "Forms Only" number listed in

Laneaux among state finalists in national awards event

MADISON, Wis.—Brian Laneaux of Bay St. Louis has been named Amateur Baseball Player of the year finalist in Mississippi by the United States Baseball Federation (USBF).

The announcement was jointly made by the USBF and Oscar Mayer Foods Corporation, the sponsor of the special awards.

The Volunteer Amateur Baseball Player of the year honors a player who has made an outstanding contribution on any level to amateur baseball in any capacity.

Known as the Golden Diamond Awards, there are three award categories. One national award and one award in each state is given to an amateur junior baseball player, to a volunteer amateur coach, and to a woman who has demonstrated exceptional involvement with youth baseball.

Winners for each award are first selected by a state selection committee of the USBF and then forwarded to the national awards committee who selects the national winners.

The national Golden Diamond Awards will be presented to the national winners at the USBF's Annual Awards Banquet on January 8, 1988.

In making the announcement,

USBF's executive director, Richard W. Case, said, "The U.S. Baseball Federation believes that recognition and reward is a powerful incentive to maintain interest and enthusiasm for volunteers and players in amateur baseball. Oscar Mayer's commitment to our beliefs has allowed us to reach the grass roots level where baseball thrives as never before."

U.S. Baseball Federation, under an act of Congress in 1978, is the national governing body over 19 million amateur athletes in this country for the sport, and represents all of amateur baseball in America on the United States Olympic Committee and on the International Baseball Association.

In announcing the awards, Paul Scharfman, Oscar Mayer group product manager, said, "While we have actively supported baseball for many years, we want to be a part of recognizing the contributions made at the grass roots level by players and supporters of organized amateur baseball. In making possible the recognition of junior players, women who have supported amateur baseball and amateur coaches, we hope to further this wholesome recreational activity."

Mississippi College sets Oct. 24 homecoming

CLINTON—Mississippi College alumni living in the Bay St. Louis area are invited to the campus Oct. 24 for homecoming 1987 and to participate in other festivities planned for the special weekend. The weekend theme will be "Golden Oldies."

"We have a host of activities planned for all who return, so we are expecting a capacity crowd and hope alumni and friends in the local area will get their reservations in soon," said Bernard Blackwell, director of alumni affairs. Reservations can be made by calling the alumni office on campus at 925-3208.

The weekend gets underway on Friday, Oct. 23, with golf and tennis tournament planned for alumni and other guests starting at 1 p.m., while a "Run-For-Fun" distance race is scheduled for 9 a.m. Saturday.

Friday evening will be the 10th annual banquet of the National "M" Club set for 6 p.m. in the cafeteria of the student center, at which time four former Choctaw athletic greats will be inducted into the Mississippi College Sports Hall of Fame. A pre-banquet reception honoring the inductees is set for 5:30 p.m.

Homecoming registration will get underway at 9 a.m. on Saturday, followed by class reunions of the Classes of '42, '47, '52, '57, '62, '67, '72, '77, '82, and the Fifty Year club, plus reunion meetings of various other groups.

The Alumni Association Awards

Luncheon is set for 12 noon in the A.E. Wood Coliseum with the "Alumnus of the Year" and recipients of the "Order of the Golden Arrow" to be recognized. Some special Recognition Awards will also be made.

A parade, patio show and other reunion sessions are scheduled in the afternoon, climaxed by the Homecoming football game against Livingston University at 5 p.m. in the Robinson-Hale Stadium. The game will be nationally televised over the American Christian Television Service (ACTS) to over 6.5 million subscribers.

Consortium working to develop shrimp farming

Dr. Harold Howse, director and Dr. Thomas McIlwain, assistant director for Fisheries, of the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs attended a meeting of the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory Consortium held in San Francisco, Calif. Oct. 1 and 2.

"The GCRL Consortium was originally formed by the GCRL, The Oceanic Institute, Hawaii, and Tufts University, Massachusetts in 1974 to establish a National Shrimp Farming Program for the United States. Now membership in the Consortium also includes the South Carolina Wildlife and Marine Resources Department and Texas A&M University," said Dr. Howse.

The primary goal of the Consortium is to resolve the problems constraining the development of shrimp farming as a viable industry in the U.S. and to help decrease the deficit created by foreign imports of seafood products. About 67 percent of the shrimp consumed in the United States is imported.

Fish and seafood products constitute the only deficit products of the U.S. Food and Agriculture trade. "These imports caused a trade imbalance of more than $5.6 billion in 1985 and $6 billion in 1986," said Dr. McIlwain.

A variety of Consortium sponsored studies ranging from disease prevention to resource marketing on a world-wide basis are in progress or will soon be initiated in South Carolina, Mississippi, Texas, Arizona and Hawaii.

Drs. Robin Overstreet and Jeff

Lotz, Gulf Coast Research Laboratory scientists, are conducting the Laboratory's shrimp aquaculture projects. These projects are concerned with disease processes in crustaceans (shrimp, crabs, crawfish), including infectious and non-infectious agents; toxicological studies; studies of normal tissues of key organ systems; shrimp larval development; stock resistance; tissue cultured virology and immunology (with Dr. R. D. Ellender, University of Southern Mississippi) and closed system culture.

Studies in the closed system environment of shrimp includes the development of an artificial seawater which will support maturation of shrimp; increasing maturation success through environmental manipulation; increasing the mating frequency; and studies of alternate/concurrent crops of other crustacean species.

A top priority goal of the GCRL segment of the National Shrimp Farming Program is to expand diagnostic capability and service to the shrimp farming industry through the members of the Consortium.

This includes upgrading GCRL's capability to utilize immunoassay techniques by GCRL scientists and others, particularly Tufts University, the University of Southern Mississippi, and the University of Arizona.

The GCRL Consortium is funded by the U.S. Congress through the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Funding for 1987 was $1.7 million.

Would you ask even the best seamstress to be your family surgeon? Would you ask a master plumber to be the principal of our high school? Should we then ask anyone but a qualified person to be a judge for our county?

The training of a lawyer is the result of 19 years of formal education before taking the Bar Examination, and still some fail the examination.

Every judge should be trained in legal matters. He should be professional. Citizens required to appear before a court of law deserve no less. The court system of the county deserves the best legal minds available to render an immediate just and fair judgement. It is less expensive for the individual and the county than an appeal process due to ignorance of the law of legal process.

I have been involved with cases all over the country helping other people. I am now back home and want to serve the people of Hancock County. Do you want me? Are you ready?...I am.

Hawks win, remain one game away from play-offs

BY DENA BISNETTE

The 20th-ranked Hancock North Central Hawks moved one step closer to a District 4-AAAA play-off berth Friday night, crushing the Long Beach Bearcats 55-9 in Hawk Stadium.

Head Coach Irvin Favre said the only team the Hawks still have to beat to assure themselves of a place in post-season play is next week's opponent, George County.

"We played good ball all night," the coach said. "I'm real happy with this game."

"We played good defense. We played good offense. We deserve to be right where we are."

Favre said right now, the Hawks are concerned about regrouping for next week and taking care of some of the players injured in the game against Long Beach.

However, the coach got a chance to check out the team's younger talent, which went both ways during part of the third quarter and the fourth quarter.

Favre was optimistic about what he saw.

"I'm pleased with our younger B-team players too," he said.

Hancock North Central wasted no time Friday, with Dwayne Acker stealing the ball on the Bearcats' first possession by recovering a Long Beach fumble.

Acker set the Hawks up with a first-and-10 on the Bearcat 12 yardline. After driving it to a first and goal on the one in two plays, Terrence Goff burst through the line for a touchdown with 9:36 in the first quarter.

A try for two was stopped by Long Beach and the Hawks led by six points.

The Hawks blocked a punt on the Bearcats' next possession, setting Hancock up on the Long Beach 15. After driving the ball down to the one, the Hawks handed it to Donald Vince, who scored the night's second touchdown.

A successful PAT kick upped the score to 13-0 with 5:51 in the quarter.

Jason McCormick of Long Beach put the Bearcats on the scoreboard with three points on a 45-yard field goal, but the Hawks struck back quickly by taking to the air on the next series. Jeff Moran hit Vincent with a 34-yard touchdown pass.

Larry Beech added a kick for a PAT, bringing the score to 20-3 at the end of the first quarter.

In second quarter action, Long Beach was unable to stop the Hawks' Jeff Moran, who scored a touchdown on a six-yard keeper play to give the Hawks a 26-3 margin over the Bearcats.

The Bearcats, however, were successful in stopping Hancock's try for two on a run.

Keith Sellier recovered a Long Beach fumble on the Bearcat 37 to start Hancock's next drive, which resulted in a six-yard touchdown run for Cuevas.

The Long Beach defense blocked the PAT kick, leaving the score at 32-3 with 1:14 in the first half.

The Hawks apparently felt that 32-3 wasn't enough and used the short time left for another touchdown drive.

Ronald Doyle intercepted a Long Beach first down pass and returned it to the six for a first-and-goal.

After a two-yard gain, Vince took the ball across the goal line with only 34 seconds to go, posting a halftime score of 38-3. The PAT attempt was blocked.

In second half action, Beech scored on a 37-yard field goal with 8:18 left in the third quarter, racking up 41-3 lead for Hancock.

The Bearcats rallied to score on a 45-yard touchdown pass from Bernie Parker to Todd Sims, but were unable to make the extra point.

Vince added another Hawk touchdown with a 31-yard run and Beech added a point on the kick, increasing Hancock's lead to 48-9.

Hancock's defensive unit struck again when Frank Greco stole another Bearcat pass and returned it for a touchdown. The PAT brought the score to 55-9 with 1:08 in the third quarter, leaving the fourth quarter to become field experience for the younger Hawks.

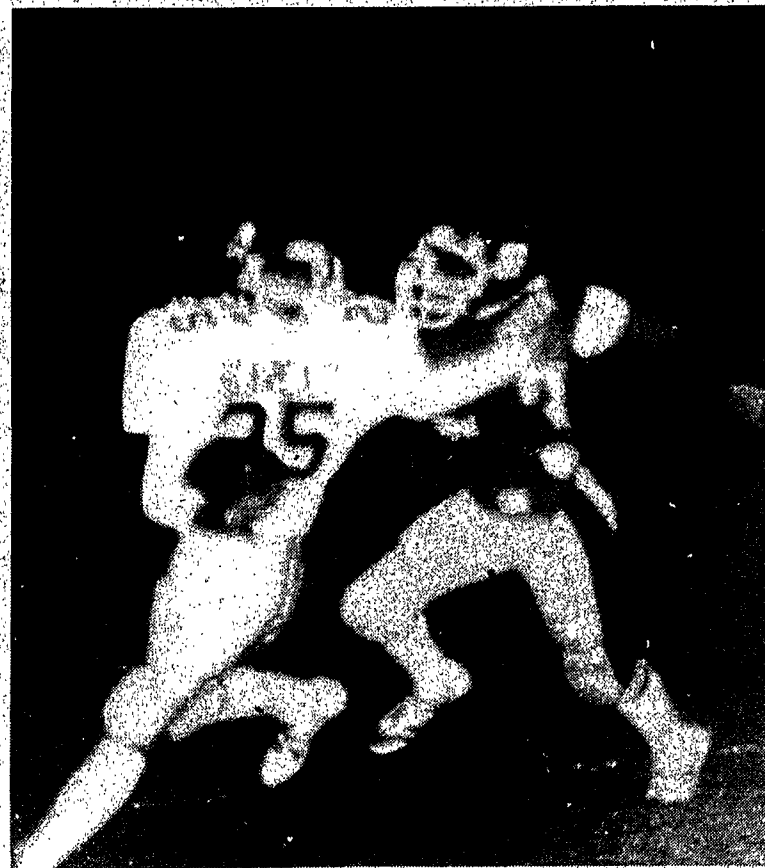

The George County game next week will be played at George County.

Rocks stumble to Riverdale, 20-0

The St. Stanislaus Rockchaws lost their third game in a row Thursday night as they fell to the Riverdale Rebels, 20-0, in a game played at Joe Yenni Stadium in Metairie, La.

Once again the Rocks had difficulty putting points on the board after long offensive drives, while the SSC defense spent most of the night on the field trying to contain their opponents.

Riverdale opened the scoring late in the first quarter as running back Keith Brown scampered 13 yards around left end. Conally Walker's extra point was good and the Rebels led, 7-0.

Gino Ascani took the Riverdale kickoff and returned it to his 35-yard line. A roughing-the-passer penalty against the Rebels on first down gave the Rocks excellent field position inside Riverdale territory.

Two plays later Ascani blasted over left tackle for seven yards, and as he was brought down the ball popped loose. The officials ruled it a fumble, and Riverdale regained possession at their 37-yard line.

Riverdale went to the air, and found split end Kerry Lumanis in the flat. Lumanis made the reception and gained 16 yards before being brought down by cornerback Jerry Fackrell.

The Rockchaw defense dug in and held the Rebels, forcing a punt to deep-back Yasin Shabazz who returned the ball to the SSC 36-yard line.

Coach Ken Lyons got his offense moving, kicking up a quick first down. The Rocks appeared on their way, but a holding penalty brought the ball back to the SSC 43-yard line. A screen pass to Ascani worked well as the hard-running SSC tailback was brought down at the Rebel 38-yard line.

SSC was in four-down territory, and the Riverdale coaching staff sensed pass. The Rebels began blitzing their linebackers, and caught Shabazz behind the line in a crucial passing situation.

The Rockchaws could not get into the flow of the game, as penalties nullified some long gains, and short, quick-hitting plays were bottled up by Riverdale at the line of scrimmage.

The Rockchaw defense of Coach Larry Ramsey went back on the field and held the Rebels. Facing a third and nine situation, Riverdale quarterback Rickey Powell over-threw his intended receiver.

After the play, a yellow flag was thrown in the offensive backfield as the back judge ruled linebacker Jorge Ponjuan guilty of unnecessary roughness.

The call was marginal at best, but that didn't matter as the Rebels had new life at the SSC 33-yard line.

The Rockchaw defense stiffened, allowing only two or three yards per carry.

Riverdale used all four downs in picking up the first. There were only eight seconds left in the half as Powell found end Lumanis in the endzone for the second Riverdale score.

Connally booted the PAT and the Rebels led 14-0 at halftime.

The Rocks appeared to be a little discouraged at halftime. They knew that they were winning their individual battles on the line of scrimmage, but the bottom line was that Riverdale was taking advantage of Rockchaw miscues and converting them into touchdowns.

Riverdale took the third quarter kickoff and had excellent field position due to Brown's return to the 42-yard line. A questionable facemask call against SSC tacked on 15 more yards, and the Rebels began at the SSC 43-yard line.

The Rockchaw defense played tough, and forced the Rebels into punting formation with fourth down and four yards to go.

Riverdale used a delayed cadence which drew the Rocks offside, giving ing the Rebels a first down at the SSC 35-yard line.

The Rebels attempted to go to the air, but cornerback Fackrell intercepted Powell's pass at the SSC 5-yard line, and returned it to his 11-yard line.

On first down, Shabazz rolled out and threw deep to Shannon Garrett, but safety Todd Rumen intercepted at the SSC 49-yard line.

Once again the Rocks defense held, and forced the Rebels to punt.

It appeared the Rebels had a fake punt called, but a high snap from center could not be handled by the punter, and defensive tackle Craig Sweeney recovered the ball at the Riverdale 49-yard line.

From here the Rocks mounted their best offensive drive of the evening, running straight at the teeth of the Rebel defense.

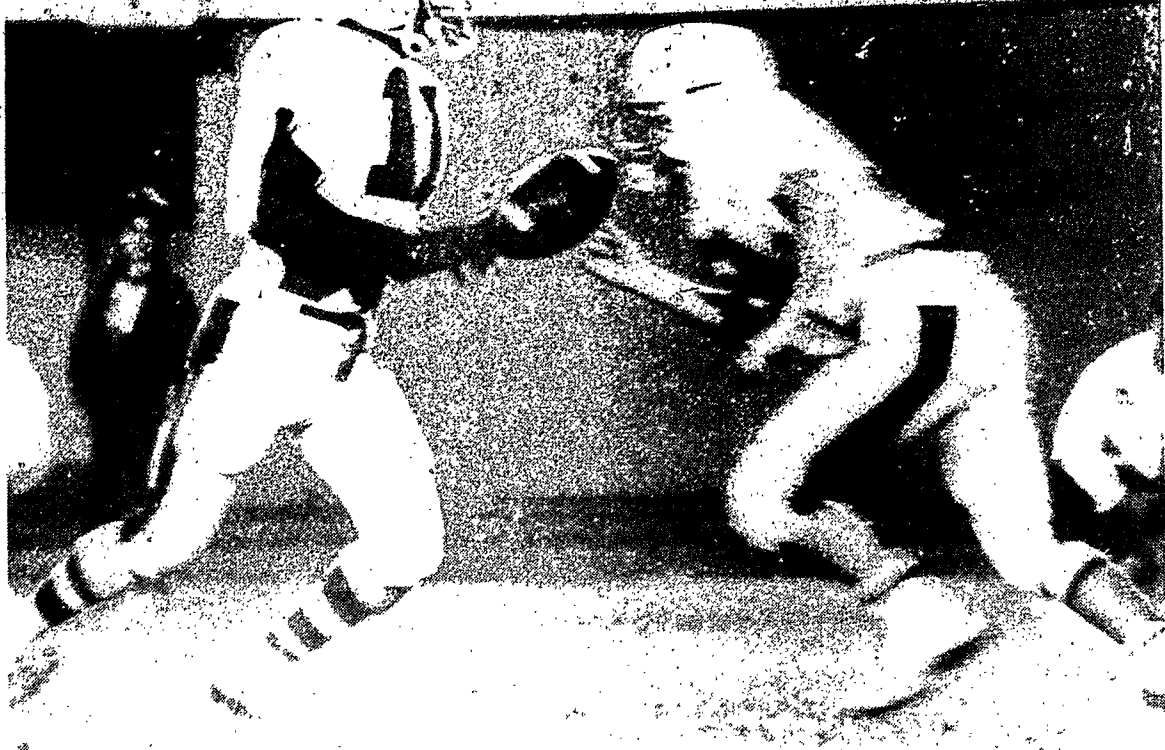

The Rocks drove down to the Rebel six yard line where they faced a third and goal. Garrett picked up one yard on an option play. On fourth down, Shabazz' pass was intercepted by Levi Bates in the endzone.

The Rebels took over on their 20, and marched 80 yards in eight plays, highlighted by Keith Brown's 42-yard run off left tackle.

Riverdale tallied its final points of the evening when Brown broke free on an 18-yard cutback run with nine minutes left in the game, securing the Rebel homecoming victory, 20-0.

When the dust settled—and there was plenty of it rising from the cinder track surrounding the playing field—Riverdale had piled up 234 yards on the ground.

Leading the Rebel attack was Keith Brown with 93 yards, followed by Kenneth Varmall with 77 yards. Gino Ascani led the Rocks with 116 yards rushing for the evening. St. Stanislaus is now 3-4 for the season, while Riverdale improved to

2-5. Next Friday the Rockchaws are back home as they face the East Central Hornets of Coach Rocky Long. East Central lost to Vancleave Friday, 33-0.

SPORTS

Raider JV grounds Eagles

Coast Episcopal High School Raiders Tuesday fielded their first Junior Varsity football team in Milton, Fla. for an afternoon contest with the West Florida Baptist Eagles, defeating them soundly 30-6.

The Raiders dominated all phases of the game, grinding out 320 yards rushing.

"It was a flawless performance with only one off-side penalty," said Coach Terry Mahan.

Excellent line blocking keynoted tailback, David Williams' 150 yards rushing performance with 3 touchdowns, while Jesse Nicholson at quarterback and Hailey Odom at fullback each scored one touchdown.

But the story of the game was blocking and tackling. Power plays up the middle and tailback pitches highlighted four Raider drives for scores with David Williams, Hailey Odom, and Brandon Smith running the ball.

On defense, Hailey Odom had over 12 unassisted tackles with 3 quarterback sacks, Clay Cazier had 7 and David Williams with 12.

Coach Mahan was extremely pleased with the young Raider performance since these kids will form the nucleus for strong Raider teams in the future.

"Our 7th graders like Nathan Guice and Mark Catron at cornerback, Eric Williams and George Hlass at defensive ends, and Ian Willis at tackle, executed exceptionally well," said Coach Mahan.

Gulf States Conference accepts new Hancock school

Christ Memorial High School, a new independent Christian High School opening next fall in the Hancock-Pearl River County area, has been accepted into the Gulf States conference, in action taken by the league's executive committee.

The new school plans to participate in tackle football, volleyball, boys and girls basketball, baseball, softball, boys and girls track, and cross country.

The school has also signed up to participate in the newspaper competition, yearbook competition, science fair, social studies fair, and literary rally.

The conference is three years old and has member schools in Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana.

Coast Episcopal High School of Pass Christian is a member of the league, which is composed entirely of Christian schools.

Each year conference champions participate in the national Association of Christian Schools post season national play offs in Dayton, Tenn.

Wayne Irwin, P.O. Box 440, Waveland, Mississippi 39576, is a member of the GSS executive committee.

Officers of the Regan Christian School Association, which founded the new school, have been chosen for the 1987-88 school year.

Wayne Robert Gill of Hancock County is president. Mrs. Susan Harris of Pearl River County is secretary-treasurer. A vice president will be named at the next monthly meeting.

To receive meeting notices or other information, write the association at P.O. Box 40, Waveland, Mississippi 39576.

BaySide drainage problem under control, Johnson says

BY DENA BISNETTE

Major drainage work in BaySide Park subdivision is coming to a close.

According to Hancock County Maintenance Superintendent Bill Johnson, a project begun last year is almost completed.

County crews have been trying to open all of the major ditches in two sections of the subdivision which typically suffer most from flooding, Johnson said.

Most of the work has proceeded in an area east of Hancock Drive up to the US-90 entrance and in one section west of Hancock Drive in the middle of the subdivision.

The drainage deficiencies were a pre-existing problem that Johnson inherited from Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge when the county unit system began about a year ago.

In the eastern work area, about nine streets flooded consistently whenever it rained, Johnson explained.

"It didn't even have to be a particularly heavy rain," he said. "Those streets flooded anyway."

The smaller ditches along some of the individual streets were adequate, but drainage was not because "the water had no place to go" with the major ditches clogged.

Crossover culverts have had to be replaced in some areas and garbage has had to be cleaned out of some of the other ditches in order to make room for the water to flow.

The county has been using one of its largest pieces of equipment, a trench-digging machine known as a trackhoe, to do most of the work.

Periodically, the trackhoe has to be pulled off the BaySide Park job to dig trenches at the county landfill in Catahoula, where it is now.

The next time the trackhoe is brought back to BaySide Park, Johnson expects to finish the major drainage work.

"These main artery ditches have actually been a much bigger problem than the ditches in front of the houses," the superintendent said.

During the winter, Johnson said he expects to be able to start on the smaller ditches.

"I feel like we have brought the problem to a point of control. If we have a heavy rain now, the work we've done will show a definite improvement in both these areas," he said.

Bay Council to eye utility statement format change

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Changes in the format for Bay St. Louis monthly utility statements is on the agenda for Tuesday's city council meeting.

City Clerk Edward Favre said this change is being considered to make the utility statements easier for the customers to understand.

"In the old format, the minimum monthly bill included minimum charges for gas, water, city sewer, wastewater district charges, garbage collection and other charges," he said.

"But at the same time, if a customer used over the minimum amount of gas, water or sewerage, a separate charge was listed for the overage amount used," Favre added.

And no meter readings were printed on the card if a customer used less than the minimum monthly allowance, he said.

"The new format should provide an easier format for the bill which will show all meter readings even if the usage is less than the minimum," Favre said.

Also, on the new bill separate line item charges will be shown for gas, water, city sewer and wastewater district charges.

"The remaining minimum monthly service amount will reflect charges for garbage, non-metered sewer service and separate fire protection charges," Favre stated.

Also to be discussed at the meeting is an ordinance dealing with unsightly accumulation of debris, materials or garbage on vacant lots.

Stennis co-sponsors welfare reform

WASHINGTON, DC—Senator John Stennis has joined as a co-sponsor to legislation which would reform the nation's welfare system to focus on efforts on employment and self-sufficiency for welfare recipients.

"We all know that the current welfare system is not successful in meeting the real needs of people who are able to work, but do not have sufficient training or motivation to get a job," Stennis said.

"I am convinced that this bill would provide a positive step toward placing the emphasis on training and education rather than simply providing economic assistance which is really meaningless in helping to change an individual's or family's long-term situation."

The Mississippi Senator said the legislation would require states to provide training education or public works jobs and would require welfare recipients to participate in those programs which would be aimed at enabling recipients to get a job and move toward self-support.

"This legislation represents a very realistic approach which I feel can make a difference," he said. "It makes no sense to allow our current welfare system which is obviously not working to continue as is."

Stennis said he is also especially pleased with provisions of the bill that would maintain Medicaid health-insurance benefits for people who leave the welfare rolls until their earnings are sufficient to pay the cost of private health insurance.

"As it is, many people are reluctant to get a job and leave welfare simply because their earnings will not be sufficient to pay health insurance premiums and meet other expenses," Stennis said.

The Senator also praised a portion of the bill which would strengthen enforcement of laws requiring divorced or absent parents to pay child support.

solidation of the six Harrison County Chambers.

"We are making ever effort to involve each Chamber in the study process to ensure the final report is truly representative of all chambers," Williams said. "This is a very complex process that will require the participation of all chambers."

One of the most notable consolidations in recent years was the creation of the Hampton Roads Chamber of Commerce in Virginia where the Chambers in Norfolk, Chesapeake, Suffolk, Virginia Beach and Portsmouth were consolidated.

Dick Bailey, vice president of the American Chamber of Commerce Executives who served as the facilitator in the Hampton Roads consolidation, has been retained by the Harrison County chambers to assist the steering committee in conducting its study.

Bailey agrees that there are many benefits to consolidating chamber programs but warns that all concerns must be addressed before the steering committee can make its final recommendation.

"A major concern to individual chambers in consolidation is the loss of representation and local identity once the new organization has been formed," Bailey said.

"Balanced representation is guaranteed for all original organizations on the governing Board of Consolidated Chambers maintaining the local identity of all chambers.

"In the Hampton Roads process, the smallest chamber, Suffolk, was most skeptical as we began studying the issue."

Bailey said, "When their members met to vote on the consolidation plan after several months of study, they approved it 195 to 5."

Bailey went on to say that, "As benefits from the consolidated chamber grow, internal differences become less important and work on area issues gain additional strength. The prevailing attitude becomes 'a rising tide lifts all boats.'"

According to Williams, the study is scheduled to be completed in the latter part of this year.

Six study groups have been appointed by the chambers to explore the possibilities of consolidating the chambers' various operations.

Chairing the study groups are Bobbie Thomas, Program of Action; John McFarland, Communications; John Heath, Finance; Bruce Stewart, Plant and Equipment; Bill Kulik, Organization; and David Ford, Staff.

Should the chambers' boards of directors endorse the steering committee recommendation, chamber members will have the opportunity to vote on consolidation shortly after the first of the year.

Mississippians adding more pasta to diets

By Nelda Starks
Nutrition Specialist

Cooperative Extension Service
Many Mississippians call it "macaroni," and most may not know a tortellini from a rigatoni or lasagna from fettuccini. But, Mississippians are seeing more pasta dishes today than ever before.

Pasta, the Italian word for "paste," is an edible dough made of semolina flour and water. Spaghetti, macaroni, ravioli and the wide variety of egg noodles with which we are familiar are all pastas.

Pasta fits perfectly into the fast-paced lifestyle. It's quick. It's inexpensive. It's low in calories, and it's nutritious.

Pasta contains complex carbohydrates and is a good source of vitamins B-1, B-2, niacin and iron. It's low in fat and sodium. It's an excellent source of energy (many marathon runners feast on pasta for days before a big race). And believe it or not, pasta is a great diet food. When combined with a source of animal protein like cheese or meat, the resulting protein mix is excellent.

Consumers can buy pasta in dozens of sizes and shapes, from spaghetti to wide lasagna noodles, and from alphabet and shells to fancier cartwheels, twirls, bow ties and stars.

Pasta is versatile, too, and it can be served alone or with toppings. Serve it hot topped with cheeses, meats or traditional tomato sauce, or make a combination (casserole) dish. Pasta can be served cold or in a salad, or even added to homemade soups. An imaginative cook can prepare a variety of scrumptious dishes, from low-calorie ones if for weight-watchers to higher calorie ones.

Be creative! Try different toppings on pasta. Tomato-based sauces are traditional, of course, but can be combined with leftover poultry, seafood, and meat to make interesting combinations. Cheeses, like cheddar, mozzarella, Monterey Jack and ricotta (low in fat) also make delicious toppings. Remember, whole milk cheeses are high in fat, so choose lower calorie toppings if weight watching.

Pasta Pointers:

—Don't overcook pasta. The Italians cook it "al-dente"—a little chewy. Homemade pasta will cook in nearly the time it takes for the water to return to a boil. Packaged pasta takes a little longer. Use plenty of water and bring it to a full boil before adding the pasta.

—Prepare topping before starting to cook the pasta. Then drain the hot pasta in a colander, serve onto plates, add the topping and enjoy. There's no need to rinse pasta with water if this method is used.

—Try a different pasta shape. Instead of the traditional spaghetti or elbow macaroni, try making a pasta dish with rotelle (little wheels), agnolatti (angel's hair) or one of the other 600 pasta shapes available in this country.

—Uncooked pasta can be stored for up to one year in the dark under normal conditions with insignificant nutrient loss.

Here's a pasta dish that uses fresh, colorful vegetables cooked just until crisp but tender. The Italians call it "Pasta Primavera," because it was first made with the earliest vegetables of springtime. Today you can use almost any fresh and frozen vegetables and enjoy this dish year-round.

Pasta Primavera

1 small (14 oz.) can tomatoes, coarsely chopped and drained (reserve juice)

¼ cup olive or safflower oil

½ t. oregano (use fresh or dried flakes)

¼ t. basil (use fresh or dried flakes)

1 large (or 2 medium) cloves garlic, peeled and chopped

½ cup coarsely chopped onion (try a red onion)

1 medium zucchini, cut in matchsticks* or ¼" rounds

1 medium carrot, cut in matchsticks

1 medium green or red pepper, cut in matchsticks

1 cup broccoli florets (fresh or defrosted frozen)

1 cup any other vegetable or mixture (celery, fresh asparagus, peas, snow peas, etc.)

¼ cup chopped parsley

1 pound pasta cooked according to package directions (try linguine, penne, or spaghetti)

*matchsticks—cut vegetables into pieces about 2" long and ¼" wide

In a nonstick pan, heat oil and saute garlic for 2 minutes over low-medium heat. Be careful not to burn the garlic. Add onions, salt and pepper to taste, and saute for 3 minutes, stirring with a wooden spoon. Add chopped tomatoes, spices and half the parsley. Cook over low heat for 10 minutes.

Add vegetables that require longer cooking—carrots, celery, mushrooms, red or green pepper. Cover and cook 5 minutes over medium heat. Stir occasionally. Add vegetables that require less cooking—broccoli, zucchini, squash, peas, fresh asparagus—cut into 2" sections. If sauce seems too dry, add reserved strained tomato liquid, 1 tablespoon at a time. Cover and cook for 5 to 7 minutes until vegetables are crisp-tender. Remove cover. Add remaining parsley. If sauce is too liquid, cook over high heat for 2 minutes until some liquid evaporates. Correct seasonings.

Serve over pasta. Serves 4 to 6 people.

Sit back and listen to a ferry tale.

It was the dawn of the 20th Century, and South Mississippi was well on its way to becoming a busy center of trade and commerce.

A new invention called the automobile was making its debut, and causing quite a stir. But even cars couldn't shorten the tough two-day journey from Henderson Point around to Bay St. Louis.

So Hancock Bank stepped forward and helped finance the purchase of a new ferry. One that could safely and quickly cross the Bay of St. Louis with up to 20 cars and all their excited passengers as well.

Later, the bank financed a modern four-lane bridge that stretches from one side of the Bay to the other. Thousands of cars cross it every day.

But a lot of folks fondly remember that ferry, and how much easier it made life for families in South Mississippi.

From the earliest days of its existence,

Hancock Bank has looked ahead to what South Mississippi could be. And we've provided the personal service and monetary means to make it possible.

We've helped bridge financial gaps for growing businesses. And helped families find shortcuts to their dreams.

That's the commitment we share with you. And it's one we'll never forget.

We're Hancock Bank. And since 1899 we've been making it possible in South Mississippi.

MRS. MICHAEL STEPHEN PHILLIPS

Phillips-Barton

Julie Ann Barton and Dr. Michael Stephen Phillips, both of Mt. Pleasant, S. C. exchanged wedding vows September 19 in a late afternoon ceremony at St. Philip Episcopal Church in Charleston. The Reverend Terrell L. Glenn Jr. officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley H. Barton of Myrtle Beach, S. C. Parents of the groom are Inger V. Phillips and Walter James Phillips, both of Bay St. Louis.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Sarah Younker and Sam Sheffer, organist and soloist, respectively.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white satin and beaded embroidered organza. The fitted bodice featured a V-front and back neckline accented with beaded embroidered lace and appliques. The elbow length puffed sleeves were accented with identical lace and the softly pleated skirt fell from a dropped basque waistline and was enhanced with beaded appliques. Twin lace inserts extended from the waist to the cathedral train and a wide border of embroidered organza encircled the hemline.

She wore a cap of matching embroidered organza embellished with pearls with a cathedral length veil of silk illusion.

The bride carried a traditional cascade bouquet of sterling silver roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Cameron Nelson of Mt. Pleasant was matron of honor. Maid of honor was Linda Abbott of Richmond, Va.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Suzie Vahala of Mt. Pleasant and Maria Roblin of Charlotte, N.C., cousin of the bride.

The attendants were attired in gowns of old rose taffeta, each with bouffant skirt. They carried nosegays of white bridal roses, baby's breath and greenery with satin streamers.

Walter James Phillips served his son as best man.

Groomsmen were Cort Phillips of Bay St. Louis, brother of the groom; Gary Wakhan of Mann, W. Va.; and Bayne Dickinson of Baton Rouge, La., cousin of the groom.

Mrs. Barton chose for her daughter's wedding a periwinkle blue gown with pleated skirt. The mother of the groom was attired in a dove grey ensemble with a crystal pleated chiffon skirt.

A reception followed the ceremony at Wickliff House, a historical landmark owned by the Medical Society of Charleston.

On return from a wedding trip to Jamaica, the couple resides in Mt. Pleasant.

Ramond-Rayborn

The engagement and approaching marriage of Mary Theresa Ramond to Kenneth Wayne Rayborn is announced by her parents, Ms. Carolyn Ann Ramond and Eugene Joseph Ramond, both of Bay St. Louis. Mr. Rayborn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Talmadge Madison Rayborn of Waveland.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Bay Senior High School, where she was a cheerleader and on the homecoming court. She attended Pearl River Junior College and was listed in 'Who's Who Among American College Students and was editor of the yearbook.

Mr. Rayborn attended Starkville High School and Bay Senior High, where he played in the school band. He attended Pearl River Junior College and Mississippi State University, where he was Maroon Band president for 2 years. He served in the United States Navy for 5 years and is presently employed with Computer Services Corporation in Pensacola, Fla.

First Baptist Church will be the setting for the November 7 marriage at 7 p.m.

MARY RAMOND AND KENNETH RAYBORN

Garcia-Dodge

Mr. and Mrs. David L. Garcia of Waveland announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Ann Garcia, to Jeffrey Johnson Dodge, son of Mr. Bryan J. Dodge Jr. of Pass Christian and Mrs. Richard Nix of Columbus, Miss.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Our Lady Academy. She received a bachelor of science degree in business management with a minor in data processing from William Carey College, where she was a Dean's List student, Miss William Carey, and was a member of Kappa Delta sorority and Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Beta Lambda.

She is employed with H. Gordon Myrick Inc. in Gulfport.

Mr. Dodge is a graduate of Gulfport High School and is employed at The Shop in Gulfport.

The couple will exchange wedding vows Saturday, November 14 in a 2 p.m. ceremony at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis.

Clubs, Auxiliaries

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

The regular monthly meeting of the Clement R. Bontemps Auxiliary, Unit 139, was held on Monday, Oct. 12. Mrs. Mattie North, president, opened the meeting, followed by the advance of the colors by the color bearers, Mmes. Lena Cuevas and Christy LaFontaine.

Mrs. Roslyn Weathers, chaplain, read the prayers. The music chairlady, Mrs. Rose Anne Thomas, led the singing of the 'Star-Spangled Banner.'

Mrs. Danita Scianna, secretary, and Mrs. Anna Brehm, treasurer, gave their respective reports.

Mrs. North introduced 'Little Miss Poppies' Kelly Oliver and Shealey LaFontaine. Crowns were placed on their heads by Mrs. North.

The auxiliary will sponsor a 'Harvest Moon Ball' Oct. 23 at the Legion home. Tickets may be purchased at the door. The music will be furnished by the Keith Hoda band.

There will be a spaghetti dinner Nov. 6 from 6 to 9 p.m. Take-outs will be available, and this will be under the guidance of Big John Rutherford. Tickets can be purchased at the door.

On Nov. 11 we will host the Veterans Day parade. All members are asked to participate, in uniform if possible, white blouse and navy-blue shirt or pants.

Mrs. Lou Wilkerson, education chairlady, told of the responses by the colleges who were invited to participate in College Night to be held in conjunction with Bay High School on Nov. 18.

Mrs. Debbie Collier was introduced as a new member. She is also the 'Brownies mother.' She thanked the unit for sponsoring the troop and related the work the little ones have done in the short time they have been organized. She introduced Mrs. Susan Piazza as her assistant.

Mrs. Patricia Gillan, youth chairlady, spoke on the preparation for the screening of the Halloween candy at the Hancock Medical Center on Oct. 31. Refreshments will be served to the participants.

Mrs. Weathers, community chairlady, spoke of the happy and smiling faces of the residents at the Hotel Reed Nursing and Retirement Home, at the sing-a-long and also at the birthday party and the pleasure the recipients show upon receipt of their gifts.

Harrison-Hancock Counties LSA

The Harrison-Hancock Counties Legal Secretaries Association was enlightened on the creditor's side of bankruptcy by William Boyd, of the law firm of White and Morse, on Thursday evening at the Holiday Inn Beachfront in Gulfport.

Jeanette Butler, employed with the law firm of Galloway and Galloway, was initiated as our newest member.

Legal Education Chairman Glenda Downs administered an informative quiz on Notary Law and answered questions regarding the requirements for becoming a notary public in Mississippi.

Michele Herman and Cay Tittle, co-chairmen for Court Observance Week, announced that although Court Observance Week is Oct. 12-16, 1987, our chapter's program for the students at Gulfport High School has been moved up to Wednesday, Oct. 21, 1987, from 8:00 a.m. to 10:00 a.m. due to a conflict with exam schedules.

Governor Gloria Benedict gave a report on the highlights of the MALS Fall Board meeting held in Jackson in September which nine local members attended.

The next meeting of the Harrison-Hancock Counties LSA will be held on Thursday, Nov. 12, 1987. Anyone having questions regarding membership or interested in attending, please contact Vice President Deborah Butler at 868-2831.

Hancock Medical Center Auxiliary

Ina Piazza opened the October meeting of the Hancock Medical Center Auxiliary with the auxiliary prayer.

Secretary Ursula Fayre and treasurer Selma George gave their reports. Betty Kelly, children's activity bag chairman, reported on donations of crayons, story books and soft toys. More money was allocated to this project which helps bring surprises to children who are patients in the hospital.

A membership tea will be hosted at Ina Piazza's home on Nov. 18 11 a.m. - 1 p.m. Awards will be presented and members are reminded to pay their dues.

Rosemary Laigast reported the garden club will be in charge of some plantings around the hospital.

The cholesterol project was successful with 508 people tested. It is hoped to make younger persons aware of the need to have cholesterol levels tested. Plans for a colon cancer test are in the making.

Pink ladies will screen blood pressures every Tuesday at the hospital classroom, 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. The public is invited. Gloria Hayden is in charge assisted by Rosemary Laigast. The auxiliary will be purchasing another blood-pressure apparatus for this use.

8 and 40 Department of Mississippi

La Boutique de Huit Chapeaux et Quarante Femmes (Eight And Forty) was organized by a number of leading Auxiliary women, including the first national president and the first national secretary of the American Legion Auxiliary at a meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary National Executive Committee at Indianapolis, Ind., in June, 1922.

The objectives of the 8 and 40, as set forth in the constitution are fun, fellowship and service, the service to be particularly concerned with child welfare and World War orphans.

A definite assignment in Child Welfare work was made to the Eight and Forty by the National Child Welfare executive committee of the American Legion in November 1932, in the field of prevention of juvenile tuberculosis. Now it includes cystic fibrosis and other respiratory diseases in children and young adults.

Membership in the 8 and 40 is limited to women who have been members of the American Legion Auxiliary for 36 consecutive months and have done some outstanding service for the Auxiliary. There is so much the members can do to help all the programs to help children, especially cystic fibrosis.

In the United States today, approximately 20,000 to 30,000 persons from infants to young adults are afflicted with cystic fibrosis. Many of you may ask "What is cystic fibrosis?" Cystic fibrosis is an inherited disease of children and young adults. In the United States CF is the number 1 genetic killer of children and young adults. It affects the exocrine, or externally secreting glands of the body. These glands produce secretions which enter organs of the body such as the lungs, intestines and skin through special ducts. The majority of the exocrine glands are mucus producing, others include the sweat and salivary glands. The exocrine glands and the secretions are important for maintaining normal functions of the body. In CF mucus-producing glands fail to produce normal free flowing fluid.

Instead they secrete thick sticky mucus which tends to block ducts and other passageways in the body. The abnormal mucus accumulates in various parts of the body, particularly in the lungs and intestines and interferes with vital functions such as breathing and digestion.

As a result of CF, the secretions of the sweat glands contain an excessive amount of salt, which can present problems such as dehydration during periods of increased sweating. Some patients take as many as 40 to 60 pills a day. The individual cost of treatment and care can range from $6,000 to $12,000 a year.

All members of the 8 and 40 are urged to donate to their Salon for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. We must save our children from this dreaded disease. I will give more details in my next article on cystic fibrosis.

Arnold-Newman

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church was the setting for the September 19 marriage of Lillian Pearl Newman of Waveland and Jack William Arnold of Bay St. Louis. The Reverend Johnny Planea officiated at the afternoon double ring ceremony.

Nuptial music was presented by organist Tricia Deffes and soloists Elisha Sterling and Matthew Sterling.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her son-in-law, Larry Sterling.

Serving as matron of honor was Verna Martinez of Waveland, sister of the bride.

Attendants were Lou Broussard of New Orleans, sister of the bride, and Karen Arnold of Bay St. Louis, daughter of the groom.

Best man was Tommy Arnold of Lakeshore, son of the groom.

Sons-in-law Ken Ramsey and Steve Kulikowski, both of Waveland, were groomsmen.

Felicia Arnold of Lakeshore, granddaughter of the groom, was ring bearer.

A reception followed the ceremony at the American Legion hall.

The couple planned a honeymoon trip to Tennessee, South Carolina and Alabama.

Senior Citizens Happenings

By Eve McDonald
CHRISTMAS PARTY

Make plans now for our big Christmas Party Wednesday Dec. 16 at American Legion Post No. 139 hall in Bay St. Louis.

We are very appreciative of the civic minded organization providing us with such a nice luncheon/party again this year.

The Ladies Auxillary will again help serve and assist with this big event. Thanks a million ladies!

SOUP

Tuleter Oliver is cooking up a big pot of soup here in our kitchen every day to supplement our luncheon program. Seniors and Jitney Jungle have been providing the ingredients. This sure is tasty on these fall days. Thanks!

CONTRACT

We are still waiting to sign our contract for services which was supposed to start Oct. 1. We presume it will be signed and we can extend our meals on wheels and congregate meals a little.

We also intend to extend our homemaker service to homebound persons who have been served by the Welfare Department and have been terminated by them as they no longer serve elderly with their homemakers.

We do not have the funds to provide all the Welfare Department was able to provide, but we are trying not to leave them stranded.

NEEDS FOR ELDERLY

We have a couple of elderly homebound persons who live out by the Port and Harbor who have no washer or dryer and cannot get out to hang clothes and can no longer wash clothes by hand due to crippling arthritis.

Our homemaker cannot serve them very well if she has to drive to Bay St. Louis or Waveland to wash and dry their clothes and then drive back to Anseley. If anyone has a workable washer and/or dryer we would appreciate your donating it.

Call 467-9292 and we will try to arrange to get it picked up and installed at one of the homes and they can share the use of it. Any funds donated will help with installation or purchase of a used appliance.

We would also like a donation of a used sewing machine for our lap quilting class. If you have one gathering dust—think of us!

TRIPS

The Travel Club has a trip planned for St. Augustine, Fla. for Nov. 13 through 16. Cost of this trip is $225.

They also have a 10-day cruise leaving from Miami January 1 through 10. Cost of this trip is $811. Call Tuleter Oliver for information concerning these interesting trips.

The Rev. Robert Miller is leading a trip to the Holy Land Jan. 5 through 14. This trip will cost $1,098 from New York City. Call 467-0618 for further information.

GAMES PARTY

Our regular games party will not be Oct. 23, instead we will have a Halloween Party Friday, Oct. 30 at 12:30 p.m. Come in costume and join in the fun and games!

Clubs, Auxiliaries

Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary

During each month of the year there are many anniversaries of special events recorded in our history as highlights in the building of American.

In October we celebrate Discovery Day. So far as can be learned, the first celebration of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus occurred in New York City on Oct. 12, 1792, three centuries after the event.

But that the actual anniversary might not be ignored, Congress on June 29, 1892, adopted a joint resolution directing the President to call upon the people to observe "the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America on the 21st day of October 1492, by public demonstrations and by suitable exercises in their schools and other places of assembly."

As the change of the calendar had not been made when Columbus sailed, the date of the discovery, Oct. 12, is according to the old calendar.

There were celebrations in all parts of the country in obedience to the proclamation by President Harrison. The next year the celebration, on Oct. 12 at the Columbian Exposition in Chicago, was the most elaborate arranged up to that date. The day was not yet a legal holiday and did not become such for several years.

Bartholdi's statue of Liberty, Enlightening the World on Bedloe's Island in New York harbor, was dedicated with elaborate ceremonies on Oct. 28, 1886. The statue was presented to the people of the United States by the French people in fulfillment of a suggestion made soon after the revolution that there should be a suitable memorial of the friendly feelings between the two countries.

It is the largest statue ever built. It is 150 feet, one-inch high. With its pedestal it is one inch less than three hundred and six feet above the low water mark. It stirs the imagination of foreigners arriving in the United States, and Americans returning from Europe welcome the sight of it as a symbol of home—hold high the Light of Liberty, this is America's message to all her citizens.

TOPS MS No. 213 Pass Christian met Oct. 13. Top loser for the week was Rose Necaise. Linda Wyman received a charm for reaching her goal and achieving KOPS status. Wilma Musser earned a charm for losing 30 pounds. Brenda Shanahan earned a charm for losing 6 weeks in a row.

The club invites anyone interested in weight control to come visit. Weigh-ins are between 5:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. The meeting is held every Tuesday at the Pass Christian Library on Hiern Avenue between 6:30 and 7:30 p.m. For more information, call Jeannie Livings at 452-9706 or Gayle Arnold at 467-7198.

Museum slates Odyssey Ball 1987

The New Orleans Museum of Art announces its 1987 Odyssey Ball: "A Kaleidoscope of Art," to be held Saturday, Nov. 14, 8 p.m.

The annual fundraiser is being sponsored by Joseph C. Canizaro Interests, and will highlight the exhibition "A Kaleidoscope of Art: The Sunny and Roussel Norman Collection."

Food for the evening will be provided by the Omni Royal Orleans, and entertainment is planned throughout the Museum throughout the night.

Entertainers include: the All Star Brass Band on the Museum steps; Ronnie Kole in the Great Hall; Lillian Boutte and Her Music Friends, Becky Allen, Kevin St. Amant and Fred Palmisano in the Super Club; Hot Strings in the Exhibition; Amassa Miller and His Ladies featuring Charmaine Neville in "Sunny's Place" (Wisner Gallery); Miguel Herrera at the piano bar in the "Bombay Club" (Ella West Freeman Gallery); and disco in the Great Hall beginning at 11 p.m.

Harry Mayronne Jr. will entertain during breaks.

In conjunction with the evening, the Museum will hold a silent auction of unique jewelry, artwork, and a few one-of-a-kind items.

The 1987 Odyssey Ball will be preceded by "A Kaleidoscope of Fashion" tea and fashion show on Friday, Nov. 13, 3 p.m., at the Museum.

The afternoon is underwritten by Saks Fifth Avenue and features the 1988 Spring collection by designer Zandra Rhodes, which she will present in person.

The annual Odyssey Ball is organized by the Women's Volunteer Committee (WVC). The 1987 ball is co-chaired by Mrs. Shepard H. (Dot) Shushan and Mrs. James L. (Jean) Taylor.

The chairman of the WVC is Mrs. Richard (Jerry) Ingolia. Tickets for the evening may be ordered through the Museum. For more information, call the WVC office, 488-2631 extension 41.

Hancock County Girl Scouts join in celebrating 75 years

Editor's Note: Following is the fourteenth in a series of articles being presented by the Sea Coast Echo on agencies which are partially funded by the United Way of Hancock County. The local United Way is currently engaged in its 1987 fundraising drive. Lonnie Clayborn of Waveland is chairman of this year's drive. The goal is $65,000.

Over 300 girls and adults in Hancock County are members of Girl Scouts of the USA. The reasons why vary from the five year old "Daisy Girl Scout" saying she likes having fun with her friends to the seventeen year old "Senior Girl Scout" who is working on top honors in Girl Scouts and busily applying for various college scholarships available to Girl Scouts.

It is hard to believe that an organization which now includes such challenges as repelling a 50-foot wall and career exploration activities such as computer technology could have begun seventy five years ago, before women even had the right to vote!

A MOVEMENT LAUNCHED

The first U.S.A. Girl Scout troop was organized March 12, 1912 by Juliette Gordon Low in Savannah, Georgia.

Her idea was revolutionary, for although the times were clearly changing, the lives of girls and young women were still relatively constrained.

But the idea spread like wildfire. By 1915 the organization was incorporated and had grown from 18 girls in that first troop to nearly 5,000.

AIDING THE WAR EFFORT

In 1917, America entered World War I. To aid the war effort thousands of enthusiastic Girl Scouts pitched in with activities at every level: food production and conservation, Red Cross assistance, teaching English to foreign-born soldiers, selling war bonds, and so on.

No better demonstration could be provided to America of the value and effectiveness of Girl Scouting: here was a national organization already in place teaching girls and women skills and services essential to the nation.

CONTINUED EXPANSION

By 1920, Girl Scouts had nearly 70,000 girl members in over 3,000 troops in every state but one, as well as Hawaii. Membership was open to girls from all walks of life, rich and poor, able-bodied and disabled, and from every race and religion.

GIRL SCOUTING TODAY

Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. now has approximately three million members: 2,248,000 girls in five program levels—Daisy Girl Scouts (ages 5-6), Brownie Girl Scouts (ages 6-8), Junior Girl Scouts (ages 8-11), Cadette Girl Scouts (ages 11-14) and Senior Girl Scouts (ages 14-17); 669,000 adult members (women and men), including volunteer leaders, consultants, board members, and staff specialists in such areas as child development, adult education, outdoor education, and administration.

Its program is a continuous adventure in learning offering a broad range of activities. The program is designed to help girls grow in skill and in self-confidence. They have fun, they make new friends, and through meaningful community service they acquired understanding about themselves and others.

IN HANCOCK COUNTY

Girls Scouts in Hancock County belong to the local Girl Scout council called Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council. Chartered in 1960 with approximately 1,800 members, Gulf Pines Council has served over 200,000 girls and adults in its 27 year history. Presently serving 7,000 members, Gulf

Pines Council covers a fifteen county area of south Mississippi.

Girl Scouts in Hancock County enjoy a wide variety of opportunities—camping weekends at the council's 339 acre camp, special fun days for Girl Scouts in Hancock and Pearl River Counties (a music fun day is scheduled in late August), plus many exciting troop activities.

Troops are presently organizing for the 1987-88 year. Recruitment forms are distributed through the schools and every effort is made to place all girls who wish to join Girl Scouting in a troop.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

Girl Scouts is a volunteer organization. Troop leaders, troop helpers, special activity helpers, and other adult volunteers are needed.

Volunteer profile is diverse... senior citizens, career women, working moms, single young adults.

Volunteer commitments can be short term, such as assisting with a "fun day" or long term such as a troop leader. All interested adults are encouraged to contact the Girl Scout office or a Girl Scout volunteer in their area. The Gulf Pines Girl Scout office is located in Gulfport, 896-4047 or write P.O. Box 6763, Gulfport, MS 39506.

UNO's Stephen Ambrose to participate in Nixon conference

Stephen E. Ambrose of Bay St. Louis, University of New Orleans Alumni Distinguished Professor of History, has been named a 1987 Notable Wisconsin Author by the Wisconsin Library Association.

The award, established in 1973, honors Wisconsin authors past and present, for their literary contributions.

Ambrose, who grew up in Whitewater, Wis., joins a prestigious group of authors to be so designated.

These include Edna Ferber, Laura Ingalls Wilder, Frank Lloyd Wright, Thornton Wilder and Carl Sandburg. He shares this year's designation with Ben Logan, author of "The Land Remembers" and "The Empty Meadow," and 1986 Emmy Award winner for the best written television documentary, "Taking Children Seriously."

Ambrose, who received his undergraduate and doctoral degrees in history from the University of Wisconsin, is the author of more than a dozen books on U.S. foreign relations, military history, and political and military leaders. Among these are five volumes on Dwight D. Eisenhower, most notably the highly acclaimed two-volume Eisenhower biography.

Ambrose is also the author of a dual biography of Chief Crazy Horse and General Custer. This year the first of his two-volume biography of Richard Nixon, entitled "Nixon: The Education of a Politician," was published.

Because of his extensive research on Nixon, Ambrose has been invited to participate in Hofstra University's sixth annual presidential conference, "Richard Nixon: A Retrospective on His Presidency," Nov. 19-21 in Hempstead, NY.

He will give an opening address on "Perspectives on Richard Nixon" and participate in a plenary session of Nixon biographers, along with Roger Morris, author of the forthcoming book, "Richard Milhous Nixon: To the Treshold of Power, 1913-1960;" Herbert S. Parmet, author of the forthcoming biography, "The Age of Nixon," and Raymond K. Price Jr., author of "With Nixon," 1977.

The keynote address at the conference will be given by former Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Other notable participants include Watergate figures John Ehrlichman, Maurice Stans, Charles W. Colson, and H.R. Haldeman; NBC News anchor Tom Brokaw; California State Assemblyman Tom Hayden; and Tom Wicker of "The New York Times."

Ambrose has been a member of the UNO faculty since 1960.

Forestry association plans state meet in Jackson

Mississippi Forestry Association's 50th Anniversary annual meeting will focus on the past, present and future of forestry in the state.

Registration and exhibits begin at 8 a.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 28, at Jackson's Ramada Renaissance.

A membership meeting convenes at 2:30 p.m. on Wednesday and features a panel review on "Lobbying the Mississippi Legislature."

Coordinators will be Dick Wilcox, International Paper Company; Dr. Terry Ozier, tree farmer and past president of MFA; and Larry Tyner, Weyerhaeuser Company. Republican gubernatorial candidate Jack Reed will close out the afternoon session by addressing the members.

Wednesday night's banquet speaker is Dr. M. Figi, humorist, who will speak on "The Power of Laughter and Humor."

MFA members and others attending Forest Landowner Day on Thursday at 9 a.m. will hear three speakers discuss aspects of the theme, "Forestry Forecast—The Next 50 Years."

Russell C. Moody, U.S. Forest Products Laboratory, will speak on Structural Forest Products of the Future.

International Political Outlook is the topic of Dennis Linskey, political military officer for the Mexican desk, U.S. Department of State.

Dave Elkin, Mid-South Timberland Manager, Weyerhaeuser Company, will conclude the morning meeting by discussing the South's Fourth Forest and Mississippi.

Wednesday's membership meeting will recognize outgoing officers and committee chairman, and recipients of Tree-Farm hard hats.

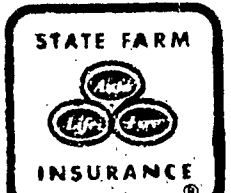

THE RELATIONSHIP between religion and science will be discussed by Dr. M. Scott Peck, MD, in a seminar at the Biloxi Hilton Hotel Saturday, Jan. 8, 1988. Dr. Peck, psychiatrist, author and nationally recognized authority on the subject, will be sponsored here by Gulf Coast Mental Health Center. His latest book, "The Road Less Traveled," has sold more than two million copies to date. The one-day seminar is designed to appeal to both professionals and laymen alike. Seminar topics include 'Growing Up Painfully: Consciousness and The Problems of Pain,' 'Togetherness and Separateness in Marriage and Families,' and 'Sexuality and Spirituality: Kissing Cousins.' Cost per person is $35. For information or registration call Winnie Piper at the center in Gulfport, 863-1132.

NEXT WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME

Weekly Tip: Keep your appointments.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) Take a deep breath; you're going to soar to new heights in your personal relationships. Kin can resolve previous problems.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Stick to your guns in spite of all the obstacles. A new test of your convictions is unavoidable; an ambitious type may try to push you the wrong way.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Sure, you feel as if you've dropped a load off your shoulders, but don't start taking on new responsibilities yet. Enjoy time with your close friends now.

Cancer (June 21-Jul 20) Feeling a bit shy these days? Little wonder, since the signs point toward confusion. When you don't know what to do, take stock of what's going on.

Leo (Jul 21-Aug. 22) Your determination in wanting to protect your pride is understandable, but back off before you make costly errors. Ignore those ostentatious people.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Measure all the facets of a new deal. If you are your meticulous self, you can size up any situation or circumstance.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Although you are feeling those spendthrift tendencies, you should know that a chance for a really good buy will come along.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) A watchful eye is essential; someone from your past is certain to make a big dent in your life now. New responsibilities can give you a needed lift.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) It's time for you to stop being so glibly concerning your business affairs. Your personal relationships should be approached realistically now.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Want to kick up your heels? Do it now! Make these plans for fun and good times with good friends, and meet new and interesting people thusly.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) A simple approach to your life is the best now. This way you can assure accuracy in everything you do. Scrutinize your romantic life now.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) New names and places will be taking on vital importance in your life at this time. Don't, however, let anyone sway you from your strong convictions.

Guarding Against Frost Can Extend Garden Life

By Milo Jurnham
Horticulturist
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

Chances are pretty good that at least a light frost will hit parts of North Mississippi sometime during the month.

In most years, several weeks of warm weather follow the first frost providing a nice extension to the gardening season.

Tender garden vegetables that are protected from the first frost will go on to produce good eating for a while longer. It wasn't so many years ago that an early October frost halted exposed late squash and snap beans but protected tomatoes went on to produce until killed by a freeze the first week in December. Gardeners need to be aware of the possibility that the weather will turn wet near the end of the month as it has done a couple of times in recent years. This also can bring an end to gardens this year.

Be sure to finish digging sweet potatoes this month to prevent deterioration in quality and losses caused by cool temperatures or excessive moisture. If sweet potatoes made all vine and no potatoes this year, too much nitrogen fertilizer was probably applied. Many sweet potato vines are in full bloom at this time of the year and the flowers indicate that this vegetable is a close relative of the morning glory.

A word of caution about sweet potatoes is needed here. The sweet potato weevil, a very serious insect pest for which there is not a good control, has been found in counties north of Hinds county. This insect has cut heavily into the production of sweet potatoes in South Mississippi. One of the easiest ways to slow the spread of this insect is not to take sweet potatoes from weevil infested areas in South Mississippi into weevil free areas in North Mississippi.

September's dry weather has been great for farmers trying to harvest their crops, but it has played havoc with fall gardens and leafy greens. Gardens that have been watered and planted according to schedule should produce a lot of good eating in October. Harvest broccoli before the flower buds open to become small yellow flowers. There should be plenty of peppers, lots of leafy greens and maybe even a few tomatoes. The last of the okra, Southern peas and lima beans are at hand but there is still time to plant some spinach and radishes.

The flower garden is looking bedraggled at this time of year. Flowering annuals such as salvia, zinnias, and marigolds are showing their age. Coleus is past its prime and most varieties are flowering, but impatiens and begonias are making a final splash of color in places they've been watered now that the heat of summer has passed. Garden chrysanthemums should be at their peak. Budded chrysanthemums can be found at local nurseries to move into the garden for late season color.

The flower garden needs some renovating. Remove spent annuals to the compost pile and begin to dig tender bulbs. Caladiums are suffering from dry weather and cold temperatures and should be dug while their location and color can still be identified. Dig the bulbs and sort them according to leaf color. Label each batch. Let the bulbs and tops dry in a well ventilated but protected location; not in the sun. When completely dry in a week or two remove all the dry leaves and roots and any adhering soil. Dust the clean, dry bulbs with 50 percent wettable Captan, layer them with clean, dry vermiculite in plastic bags and store the bags where they will be cool but not cold. Temperatures below 50 degrees cause the stored bulbs to rot. A good storage location until spring is in a closet with an outside wall. Label every bag to know what color is in it.

Many flowering perennials that bloomed earlier and are now just leafy plants can be divided. Dig each plant, shake off excess soil and either pull, pry, cut, or chop the plant into several pieces being sure each part has roots and a stem, crown or bud. This process works fine with hosta, daylily, iris, daisy, astilbe, phlox, coral bell, liriopse and many other perennials. Keep the newly planted divisions watered and mark their location so they won't be disturbed when planting spring flowering bulbs in a few weeks.

Peanuts add fun to fall

Good Food Buys

Peanuts and fall go together—green ones, fresh from the field for boiling and dried ones for roasting. Peanuts make excellent snacks for any occasion. The peanut is really a pea with the term "nut" having been added because of its flavor and oil.

Although peanuts belong to the legume family of peas and beans, they are treated like nuts. They're popular in salads, sandwiches, cookies and desserts—as well as just plain roasted, raw or salted. Peanuts also are good in main dishes, soups and in combination with other vegetables. An excellent nutritional buy, peanuts are 25 percent protein.

Peanuts were grown by the Indians before white settlers came to America. Peanuts are raised throughout the South. Look for Mississippi grown green peanuts at the Farmers Market and in some grocery stores throughout the state.

There are three major types of peanuts each grown in a certain part of the United States and each intended for a particular peanut product.

Spanish peanuts are grown in Texas and Oklahoma and used for candies and salted nuts with skins on.

Virginia-type peanuts are larger and longer in shape. Called "ballpark," they are the ones most often eaten as snacks. The Mississippi green peanuts are Virginia-type.

Runners are similar in shape to Virginia-type, but smaller. Grown in Georgia, Florida and Alabama they are a mainstay for peanut butter and peanut oil.

If you have home grown peanuts, as many people over the state do, that's great. But, if you have to buy them you have a choice—in the shell or already shelled. If you buy peanuts at regular grocery store prices, you seldom save money by shelling them. It takes one and one-half pounds of peanuts to make a pound of meats. With few exceptions, nuts are half shell and half nut meat.

Peanuts in the shell are available, raw, roasted, roasted with salt, and boiled. Shelled peanuts may have husk left on in bags or cans of raw or roasted peanuts. Raw Spanish peanuts are great for cooking and especially for peanut brittle. For snacking there are roasted or dry roasted, salted or unsalted peanuts. The newest flavor is honey roasted. Most mixed nuts have more than nuts. In fact, peanuts pop up in lots of places.

Not only do we enjoy peanuts, but peanut oil and peanut butter are two by-products that are indispensable in many diets. Peanut oil is superior for deep fat frying because of its high smoke point. It is a good all purpose oil for salads and any use requiring vegetable oil.

Everybody knows the virtues of peanut butter. It's nutritious, has great taste appeal and is so versatile. Many kinds and brands of peanut butter are available. There's smooth, chunky with bits of peanuts added to smooth peanut butter, some has yeast added, some fortified with nutrients, some even mixed with jelly for instant peanut butter and jelly sandwiches.

Both roasted peanuts and peanut butter in sealed containers retain their sweet flavor for months at room temperature. Refrigeration causes oil to separate in peanut butter. But, for fresh or boiled peanuts, refrigeration is necessary. For longer storage and better quality, freeze either raw or boiled peanuts. Frozen in freezer bags they retain their quality for months.

What better way to welcome the fall season than with an old time favorite—peanuts. Try some today!

WORD WISE

Q. I know that a portmanteau is a suitcase, but what is a portmanteau word? A suitcase word? —C.H. Dover, DE

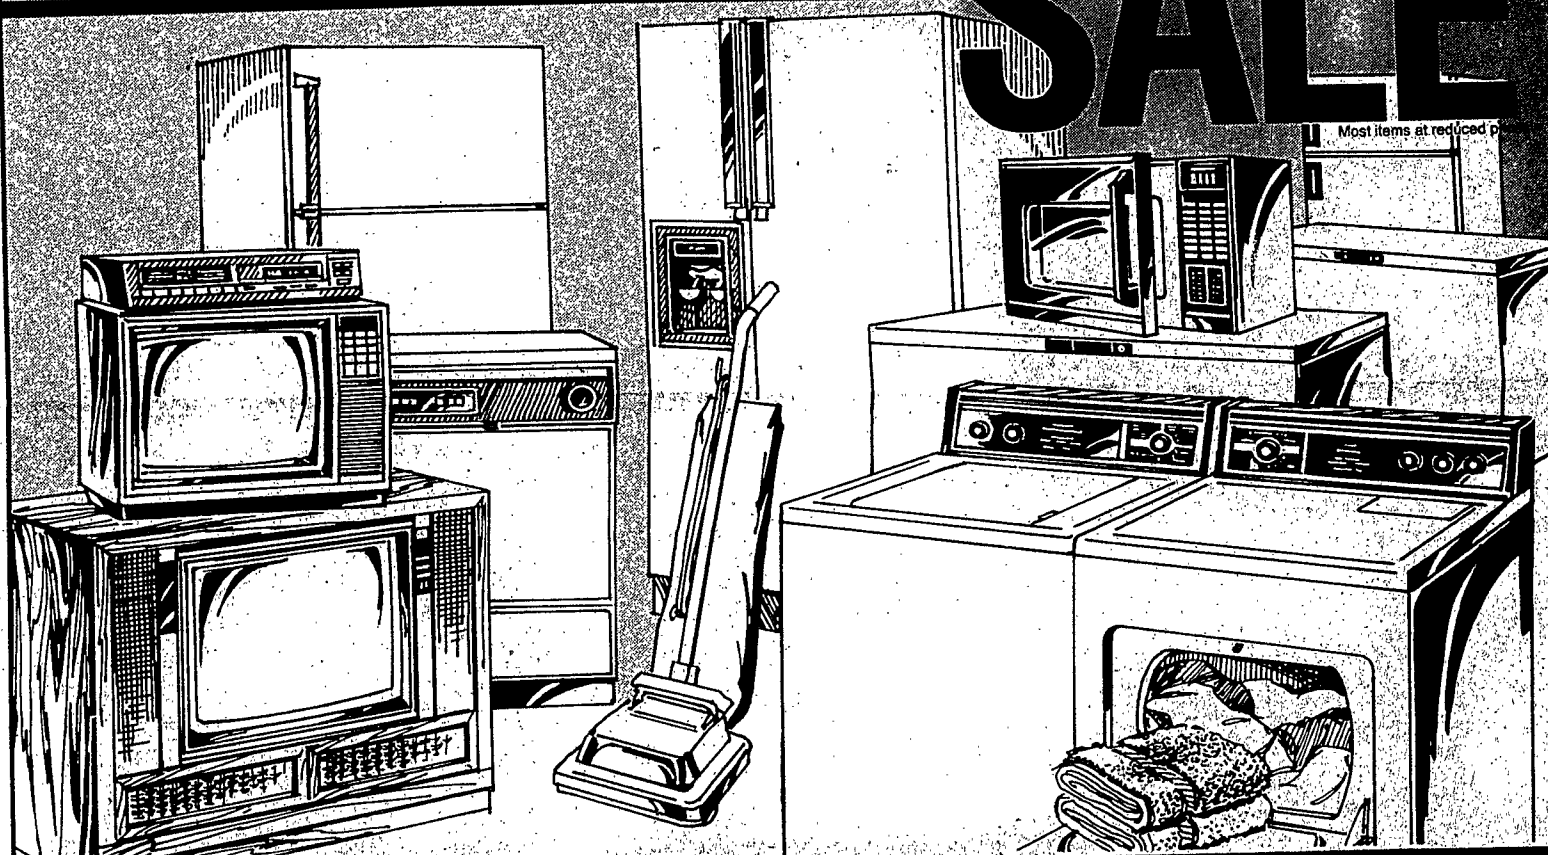

A. Dear C.H.: Actually, you're not too far off. A portmanteau word is a word formed by the merging of sounds and meanings of two different words, i.e., two words "packed together." Lewis Carroll used portmanteau words to create jabberwocky: slithy from lithe and slimy, mimsy from miserable and flimsy. It's easy and fun to think of them on your own: Smog from fog and smoke, dunch from lunch and dinner, sneet from snow and sneeze.

Bay Senior High School plans AIDS awareness program

Students at Bay Senior High School will begin a two part series on AIDS awareness this month, according to high school principal Frank Lader.

Beginning Monday, students will watch a 21 minute video tape entitled "AIDS: Suddenly Sex Has Become Very Dangerous" with a 30 minute question and answer session to follow.

"We feel it is imperative that we conduct a program in conjunction with AIDS Awareness Month," says Janet Roche, home economics teacher.

Roche added, "Juniors and seniors will begin this month with sophomores and freshmen attending in November."

Designed to educate high school students about AIDS, the tape provides positive role models so students can cope with the fatal disease. Pamphlets and student literature will be distributed during the question and answer session conducted by Mrs. Bobbie Maggib, RN and Mrs. Roche.

Additionally, a parent information meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 12 at 7 p.m. in the Bay Senior High Library. A 28 minute video will be shown with a discussion following. Parents are encouraged to attend.
